White House Clamps Lid on Prestige Data

Government Report To Be Kept Secret; Kennedy Levels Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House refused today to make public a report which Democrats contend shows U. S. prestige abroad has declined.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty read newsmen a statement saying that Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and director George Allen of the U.S. Information Agency "have determined that this paper will not be made available outside the executive branch."

Making clear the White House backed up that stand, the statement said Herter and Allen had acted under policies approved by the President.

The report is understood to be one from USIA employes in the field, but its exact nature has never been officially disclosed.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democratic presidential nominee, has been on the campaign circuit contending the paper supports his position that American prestige in the world has slipped. He has demanded that the document be made public.

His Republican rival, Vice President Richard M. Nixon has said he has no objection.

But Hagerty said the document "is classified secret."

"What you are asking me about," he told reporters, as he read from words scribbled on a note pad, "is entitled an internal, low-level staff paper similar to many others that are periodically prepared by staff elements within the United States Information Agency for staff use. It is classified secret. Under policies approved by the President pertaining to internal working papers of the executive banch of the government, the secretary of state and the director of the United States Information Agency have determined that this paper will not be made available outside the executive branch."

The Democratic presidential candidate, heading for a day's campaigning in Michigan, broadened the issue he kept pounding on Tuesday in a marathon assault on largely Republican Chicago suburbs.

His complaint then was that, in order to help Vice President Richard M. Nixon make good his campaign contention that U.S. prestige is at an all-time high, the administration had hidden away a government-financed survey.

This report, he said, showed that the people in 10 friendly countries believe the Soviet Union is ahead of this country militarily and will maintain or increase its lead.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the House Government operations subcommittee, said Tuesday night a claim of executive privilege had blocked his staff's effort to learn whether such a poll is being suppressed by the U.S. Information Agency.

Moss quoted Thomas Roderick, USIA general counsel, as saying USIA Director George V. Allen "is checking with the White House" for a decision on whether such reports should be withheld.

A-Spy Greenglass Slated for Parole

WASHINGTON (AP) — David Greenglass, confessed atomic spy who was the chief government witness in a 1951 trial of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg is scheduled to be released from prison Nov. 16.

The Federal Board of Parole said Greenglass will complete the minimum term of his 15-year sentence, with time off for good behavior, on that date. He is in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison.

The Rosenbergs were executed in 1953 as atomic spies for the Soviet Union. Mrs. Rosenberg was Greenglass' sister.

Explosion in Store Kills at Least 10

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — A gas-triggered explosion ripped through a crowded downtown department store here Tuesday, caving in walls, shattering windows and hurling bodies into the street.

At least 10 persons died.

Seven bodies were recovered. Another person died in a hospital. Rescue crews worked through the night in near-freezing temperatures to free at least two more bodies which could be seen pinned beneath the rubble. Other reports said there were three or more buried.

At least 99 persons were treated for injuries. Henry Bird, civil defense director for the area, said five store employes were unaccounted for.

"Everyone was screaming, everyone saying be quiet," said Mrs. J. A. Anderson of Windsor, one of about 150 customers and clerks who were in the Metropolitan Stores Ltd. building.

Mrs. Anderson said the mid-afternoon explosion "just shook the place, and all the lights went off all of a sudden." She said, "There was a big swish as the air came back into the store, or something."

Store manager Joseph Halford, 31, said he was in the subbasement with Charles Ingram, a plumber, and Howard Schram, an electrician, when the blast occurred. The store's heating plant was being converted to gas.

"We decided to open the main (gas) line from the street," Halford said, "and all we got was air. All of a sudden the gas came through. I turned to leave the basement when it exploded."

Halford suffered burns on the face and hands and was reported in fair condition at a Windsor hospital.

Belgian Officers Join Natives To Hamstring U.N. in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A new and formidable military challenge faces the United Nations in the Congo.

Exasperated U.N. officials say the challenge comes mainly from Belgian officers who have rejoined Congolese army units and are working behind the scenes to hamstring the current U.N. objectives.

Senior officers of the 19,000-strong U.N. force view the development as a threat to the Congo's public order and a danger to world peace.

The Belgian officers—like their civilian colleagues in the Congolese government offices—have two main objectives.

One is to prevent at all cost the return to power of Communist leaning ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba and the other is to preserve as far as possible the privileged position of Belgian commercial interests in the Congo.

The presence of the U.N. force is a threat to both these objectives. The U.N. mission is bound by its charter to uphold parliamentary democracy. In the nation's political turmoil this inevitably favors Lumumba. And, among all the squabbling political leaders, only Lumumba is likely to upset the 80-year-old Belgian commercial hegemony.

The Congolese army — which U.N. mission chief Rajeshawar Dayal of India calls a "disorganized rabble"—is bitterly divided within itself. Prominent U.N. officials say it is held together only with the help of the Belgian officers and money provided by Belgian firms operating in the Congo.

Despite secret Belgian aid and advice reported by the U.N., Congolese soldiers frequently seem out of control. They have been seen mercilessly beating civilians and stripping women in public in areas under their domination. Ten persons were killed by rampaging soldiers in a Leopoldville suburb Saturday and two more were reported killed Tuesday.

Belgian staff officers have reappeared in army camps where little more than three months ago soldiers mutinied against their Belgian officers and raped many of their wives.

And 36 Congolese cadets were sent to a Belgian military academy a few days ago against the will of the U.N. mission.

Farm Program Challenge Given Kennedy

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon today challenged Sen. John F. Kennedy to discuss the details of the Democratic nominee's farm program.

Nixon said in a statement that his rival had outlined in Sioux Falls, S. D., a month ago what the vice president called "his brave new program for farm prosperity, complete with 'parity income' and 'supply management' ".

"But now what do we hear from him about his farm program?" Nixon asked. "In Wisconsin the other day he gave a speech on agriculture but according to available press accounts, hardly mentioned his own farm plan.

"I am not surprised."

Nixon repeated previous charges that what he called "Kennedy's blueprint for planned scarcity" would raise food prices 25 per cent and place severe controls on farmes. He said that if Kennedy supports such a program, he ought to talk about it in Ohio, New York and California, presumably a reference to states in which consumers are predominant.

Nixon added:

"But if Senator Kennedy has lost his enthusiasm for his plan —and in the circumstance his loss is America's gain—let him do just two things for having proposed this totalitarian farm program in the first place.

"To America's farmers let him apologize.

"To America's housewives from coast to coast, let him express regrets."

Huge, Freak Wave Plows into House

ROCKAWAY, Ore. (AP)—It was an eerie sensation, George Harriman said, as he stood in his beach home and watched a huge wave ride the crest of a high tide. The wave came on and on, and then smashed into the house.

"My picture window is 5 by 8 feet and you couldn't see out for the water. It was clear above the window. The water broke the window and came right on in," he said.

Harriman's home was one of four knocked off their foundations Tuesday by the wave that crashed in from the sea and for a time covered streets of this coastal resort with two feet of water.

Only minor injuries were reported, but damage was widespread.

Living Costs Climb to New Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose two-tenths of 1 per cent in September to a record high.

The Labor Department's living cost index went to 126.8 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. This is 1.3 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Practically every group of major consumer costs increased except for costs of new and used automobiles. Auto prices were down due to additional dealer discounts.

Higher prices for housing and seasonal clothing cost increases exerted the most significant upward pressures between August and September.

The living cost increase will bring a pay increase for about 100,000 workers, chiefly in aircraft plants and other metalworking industries.

The increase will be one cent an hour in most cases but about 5,000 workers are due for 2-to-3 cents-per-hour raises.

The pay boosts result from adjustments required by labor contracts geared to the government index.

Robert Myers, deputy labor statistics commissioner, said a further living cost increase has been indicated in October. Figures for October will became available next month.

He said he anticipates higher costs for clothing, food and transportation, the latter because of seasonally higher prices for new model automobiles.

Castro Charges Face U.N. Airing

Political Panel Set For Lengthy Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Fidel Castro's charge that the United States is preparing an invasion of Cuba appeared destined today for debate after long delay in the U. N. Political Committee instead of immediate discussion in the General Assembly.

Demanding urgent consideration for the invasion charge, Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa also accused the United States Tuesday of planning a "manufactured provocation" at the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, to influence the U. S. presidential election.

Despite Soviet backing for Roa, the assembly steering committee voted 12-3 with 5 abstentions to send the complaint to the 99-nation political committee, where the United States said it rightfully belonged.

The political committee already is bogged down with a heavy work schedule, and the Cuban charges appeared fated to wind up near the bottom of its agenda.

Cuba had served notice that if the steering committee rejected her demand for immediate assembly debate on the complaint, it would try to get the assembly to overturn the committee recommendation. Diplomats gave the Cubans little chance of success.

The United States branded the Cuban charges a "monstrous fabrication" and warned the steering group against being stampeded into hasty action. It made clear, however, that it welcomed a full U. N. airing of Cuba's charges.

The Cuban foreign minister accused Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon of trying to make Cuba the scapegoat of the election campaign. In an emotional outburst, he declared the Cuban government had abundant proof a large-scale attack on Cuban territory "is about to break out."

Halloween Parade Set For Monday

Spooks and goblins will be in the spotlight Monday night during Circleville's annual Halloween Parade.

The delightful parade again will be sponsored by the Circleville Jaycees. The procession will form at Court and Main Sts. at about 7:15 p. m. and move to the Ohio National Guard Armory on E. Franklin St. where judging will be conducted.

Also taking part in the parade will be the Circleville High School Band and units of the Circleville Police Department.

Jaycees officials said prizes will be awarded in the various classes of competition.

• • •

JUDGING will be conducted at the basketball court in the armory. Judges will be E. G. Grigg, Dr. David Goldschmidt and James Shea.

Further information concerning the parade may be obtained from Orley Bosworth at Beaver's Studio or Lawrence Priest at the City Loan & Savings Co.

Networks Propose Orthodox Debate

NEW YORK (AP)—The television and radio networks have proposed that if the presidential candidates decide to hold a fifth debate they should meet face-to-face without a panel of questioners.

The networks, in telegrams to the television advisers of Sen John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, suggested that each candidate make a statement on an agreed-on subject, with each getting time for rebuttal.

The men then could question each other, with a moderator keeping the time—and the peace.

This format originally was suggested by the networks but turned down by the candidates.

The nominees have reached no agreement on a fifth debate.

Boat Wreck, 2 Bodies Wash Up on Rocks

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Splintered wreckage of the Two Brothers, a 42-foot fishing boat crewed by four Pacific Grove men, washed up on rocks near Monterey Tuesday.

Two bodies were picked up by the Coast Guard, which said the Two Brothers apparently ran into heavy fog Monday and smashed on the rocks.

Nixon Campaigns Hard For Backing from Ohio

A RETURN TO "CORRUPTION" — Whistle-stopping across Ohio and West Virginia (here at Marietta, O.), Vice President Richard Nixon charges that a Democratic victory would mean a return to the "corruption" he said the Republicans had to clean up in Washington in 1953.

Hunt for Votes Gets Furious

Buckeyedom Rated As Pivotal State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio is a privotal state in the presidental election and Richard M. Nixon today was getting in some of his hardest campaign licks in the Buckeye area.

He left Cincinnati this morning and appeared in Middletown, Dayton and Springfield before a noon arrival in Columbus.

The Republican presidential nominee campaigned furiously across Ohio in search of electoral votes that might help him make up for the possible loss of New York in the Nov. 8 balloting.

Striking at his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, Nixon told a train-side crowd in the rain at the steel town of Middletown that his opponent jumps from position to position on international affairs.

Police estimated the crowd at 10,000 persons, which seemed far in excess of the actual turnout. But local newsmen said it was larger than the crowd which previously assembled to hear Kennedy.

In contrast to his rival, Nixon pictured himself as an experienced negotiator who knows how to deal with Khrushchev.

"You have seen the television pictures of Mr. Khrushchev shaking his fist at me," Nixon declared. "The way to deal with him is just to be as firm for the right as he is for the wrong."

As Nixon spoke, some members of the crowd — which included many school chidren — waved signs which read: "One Mr. K is enough—Win with Nixon."

Nixon told an umbrella-bearing crowd which filled the square in front of the Dayton courthouse, he believes his record as a member of the Eisenhower administration qualifies him for the nation's highest office.

The Dayton crowd was estimated at 20,000, about the same as Kennedy drew at last week's appearance in the same city, and from the same platform.

With the aid of President Eisenhower, Nixon will shoot the political works in New York next Wednesday.

Then he will be joined by Eisenhower, vice-presidential nominee Henry Cabot Lodge and GOP Sens. Jacob M. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating in what the Republicans hope will be New York City's biggest ticker-tape reception. Nixon will star that night in a television appearance.

If all this fails to turn the tide that Nixon strategists admit privately is against them in the Empire State, they will try to duplicate Harry Truman's 1948 stunt of winning without New York's 45 electoral votes.

Nixon's associates believe they must take Ohio and its 25 electoral votes, California and Pennsylvania with their 32 each, Illinois with

Man Urges Judge Stop Dad's Driving

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Edward Ashby is 80, stone deaf and extremely independent. He also is a dangerous driver, says his son Wayne, 54.

"Take his license, Judge. I want to save his life or someone else's," the son pleaded in traffic court Tuesday.

The father was charged with reckless driving. Police said he attempted a U-turn in heavy traffic.

Wayne Ashby said state officials refused to revoke his father's license without affidavits.

"My father will obey the law; he won't drive if he doesn't have a license, but as long as he has one he will," the son said

Judge Ralph Stone continued the case to Nov. 29.

Mother Tells Boy to Shoot; Stepdad Dies

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A 17-year-old boy shot and killed his stepfather today near Whitehouse.

Deputies said the victim James L. McCann, 44, of Jeffers Road, Swanton, broke into the home where his estranged wife and stepson were living.

The wife, Mrs. Fern S. McCann, 44, and her son, Edward Seel, told deputies that the man showed up at the house three miles west of Whitehouse and started banging on the doors and shouting.

Mother and son said they armed themselves with shotguns and warned McCann to stay out. He broke in anyway, they said. Mrs. McCann said she attempted to shoot but her gun was unloaded.

The son, told by his mother to shoot, hit his stepfather in the chest with a blast from a .20-gauge shotgun.

Lucas County authorities said Mrs. McCann was seeking a divorce on grounds of cruelty. McCann, arrested two weeks ago on a charge of assault and battery against his wife, was under a peace bond set by County Judge Joseph Cannon.

Assistant Coroner Harry Mignerey issued a tentative verdict of justifiable homocide.

Third of Doctors Tie Cigarettes to Cancer

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey among 587 American doctors discloses that one-third of them believe cigarette smoking is a definite cause of lung cancer, says the American Cancer Society.

Another third regard it as a probable cause, the survey showed.

The figures, released Tuesday at the 47th annual meeting of the society, showed that 22 per cent of the 587 physicians questioned doubt that cigarettes are a factor in lung cancer.

Ohio Non-Farm Employment Picture Is a Little Brighter

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's non-farm employment picture is a little brighter, says a report by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

William Papier, chief of the bureau's division of research and statistics, said that much of the recent gain—to a September total of 3,129,000—was seasonal. For example, schools and colleges reopened, new model cars were put into production, temporary cannery workers were hired.

And he said retail trade anticipated a fall pickup.

Answering the question "has the manufacturing downtrend halted?", the report said "perhaps." Factory employment in Ohio moved up last month for the first gain in seven months. But 69,000 more were employed last February. Hardest hit were makers and users of steel.

What happened between February and September was this: Steel employment dropped more than 26,000; non-electrical machinery employment fell 11,000; motor vehicle manufacturing cut off 10,000, and metal fabricators released 9,000. Electrical machinery, including household appliances, was down nearly 9,000.

Some 82,000 more workers have been added to non-factory payrolls since February, somewhat offsetting factory losses. Much of the gain, however, was seasonal. Construction, for example, added nearly 42,000, and retail trade more than 17,000. Service industries also hired more people — some 13,000.

Last week (ended Oct. 22) nearly 112,000 Ohioans, out of work one week or longer, were claiming benefits—4.6 per cent of those protected by law. This is roughly twice the year-ago figure. Recent trend has been moderately upward.

Of the total, more than 22,000 claimants are in Cleveland, and 12,000 are in the Youngstown-Warren area. Cincinnati has roughly 10,000, and Canton-Massillon-Alliance 6,000. Akron-Barberton, Columbus, and Toledo range between 5,000 and 6,000 each. Dayton has around 4,500.

Poet Awarded Nobel Prize in Literature

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Saint-John Perse, a French poet who once ranked high in his country's diplomatic corps, was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature today.

Now 73, he fled France in 1940 after quarreling with pro-Fascist elements in France. He settled in the United States and became a consultant to the Library of Congress in Washington, where he now lives.

Like much modern poetry, his work is enigmatic and contains many levels of meaning difficult to plumb. Outside of France, his best known work is Anabase, a long poem translated into English by T. S. Eliot, another Nobel laureate.

The title is taken from the ancient Greek historian Xenophon's Anabasis, the story of an epic march. One French critic described Perse's poem as "a series of images of migration, of conquest of vast spaces in Asiatic wastes, of destruction and foundation of cities and civilizations. . ."

The imagery for the poem, published in 1924, came from a trip Perse took through the Gobi Desert of China. He also traveled in the South Seas, and his poetry is colored by memories of this and the tropical lushness of his early life on the French island of Guadeloupe in the West Indies.

During the 1930s, Perse worked on his poetry at night and in secret. Few of his associates at the French Foreign Office knew of it.

Nixon Blames Truman for Missile Lag

CINCINNATI (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon says the Truman administration is to blame for any American lag behind Russia in intercontinental missiles.

In a position paper on space released Tuesday, the Republican presidential nominee repeated previous GOP charges that the United States made no effort under the Truman administration to match Russian missile developments.

Democrats have said the decision was made that rockets could not carry the then tremendously bulky nuclear warheads and it was not until after a breakthrough to lighter nuclear loads that missiles became practical as carriers.

Nixon said his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, was attempting "to hitch his political wagon to the Soviet Sputnik, charging that the Eisenhower administration is allowing the Soviets to outdistance us in the exploration of space."

"It is irresponsibility of the worst sort for an American presidential candidate to obscure the truth about America's magnificant achievements in space in an attempt to win votes," Nixon said.

The Republican nominee said that of 34 space satellites and probes successfully launched the United States has sent up 26.

Military Plane Crashes on Farm

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff Harold Steele reported at least one fatality today in the crash of a military plane on the James McGee farm six miles northwest of here in Vinton County.

Several buildings on the farm were reported to have been set afire by the crash, and state foresters were called to fight the fire.

The sheriff summoned an ambulance and the county coroner to the scene. He did not know the type of military plane involved.

Officials at Lockbourne Air Force Base in Columbus were sending investigators to the scene in the assumption that it was a plane from that base which crashed. The base had no other details.

Retailers Say U.S. Economy Is 'Robust'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders of the retail industry told President Eisenhower today—and reported he agreed—that the American economy is robust and only going through a "little pause."

The officers and executive committee of the American Retail Federation, representing some 800,000 retailers, said they base their confidence on continued high retail sales and an unprecedented level of personal savings.

Roland Jones Jr. of Washington, president of the federation, told reporters the President "shared our analysis of the present state of the economy."

He said Eisenhower told them the economy can't always be rising, that there has to be a pause once in awhile and there is such a pause now.

As to why the spokesmen for the retailers came in to recite figures Eisenhower already knows, Jones said "We're hearing so many people crying the blues in this country and accentuating the negative we thought it was the fine thing to come in here and accentuate the positive."

He said that if Kennedy supports such a program, he ought to talk about it in Ohio, New York and California, presumably a reference to states in which consumers are predominant.

Nixon added:

"But if Senator Kennedy has lost his enthusiasm for his plan —and in the circumstance his loss is America's gain—let him do just two things for having proposed this totalitarian farm program in the first place.

"To America's farmers let him apologize.

"To America's housewives from coast to coast, let him express regrets."

Huge, Freak Wave Plows into House

ROCKAWAY, Ore. (AP)—It was an eerie sensation, George Harriman said, as he stood in his beach home and watched a huge wave ride the crest of a high tide. The wave came on and on, and then smashed into the house.

"My picture window is 5 by 8 feet and you couldn't see out for the water. It was clear above the window. The water broke the window and came right on in," he said.

Harriman's home was one of four knocked off their foundations Tuesday by the wave that crashed in from the sea and for a time covered streets of this coastal resort with two feet of water.

Only minor injuries were reported, but damage was widespread.

Living Costs Climb to New Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose two-tenths of 1 per cent in September to a record high.

The Labor Department's living cost index went to 126.8 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. This is 1.3 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Practically every group of major consumer costs increased except for costs of new and used automobiles. Auto prices were down due to additional dealer discounts.

Higher prices for housing and seasonal clothing cost increases exerted the most significant upward pressures between August and September.

The living cost increase will bring a pay increase for about 100,000 workers, chiefly in aircraft plants and other metalworking industries.

The increase will be one cent an hour in most cases but about 5,000 workers are due for 2-to-3 cents-per-hour raises.

The pay boosts result from adjustments required by labor contracts geared to the government index.

Robert Myers, deputy labor statistics commissioner, said a further living cost increase has been indicated in October. Figures for October will became available next month.

He said he anticipates higher costs for clothing, food and transportation, the latter because of seasonally higher prices for new model automobiles.

Castro Charges Face U.N. Airing

Political Panel Set For Lengthy Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Fidel Castro's charge that the United States is preparing an invasion of Cuba appeared destined today for debate after long delay in the U. N. Political Committee instead of immediate discussion in the General Assembly.

Demanding urgent consideration for the invasion charge, Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa also accused the United States Tuesday of planning a "manufactured provocation" at the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, to influence the U. S. presidential election.

Despite Soviet backing for Roa, the assembly steering committee voted 12-3 with 5 abstentions to send the complaint to the 99-nation political committee, where the United States said it rightfully belonged.

The political committee already is bogged down with a heavy work schedule, and the Cuban charges appeared fated to wind up near the bottom of its agenda.

Cuba had served notice that if the steering committee rejected her demand for immediate assembly debate on the complaint, it would try to get the assembly to overturn the committee recommendation. Diplomats gave the Cubans little chance of success.

The United States branded the Cuban charges a "monstrous fabrication" and warned the steering group against being stampeded into hasty action. It made clear, however, that it welcomed a full U. N. airing of Cuba's charges.

The Cuban foreign minister accused Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon of trying to make Cuba the scapegoat of the election campaign. In an emotional outburst, he declared the Cuban government had abundant proof a large-scale attack on Cuban territory "is about to break out."

Halloween Parade Set For Monday

Spooks and goblins will be in the spotlight Monday night during Circleville's annual Halloween Parade.

The delightful parade again will be sponsored by the Circleville Jaycees. The procession will form at Court and Main Sts. at about 7:15 p. m. and move to the Ohio National Guard Armory on E. Franklin St. where judging will be conducted.

Also taking part in the parade will be the Circleville High School Band and units of the Circleville Police Department.

Jaycees officials said prizes will be awarded in the various classes of competition.

* * *

JUDGING will be conducted at the basketball court in the armory. Judges will be E. G. Grigg, Dr. David Goldschmidt and James Shea.

Further information concerning the parade may be obtained from Orley Bosworth at Beaver's Studio or Lawrence Priest at the City Loan & Savings Co.

Networks Propose Orthodox Debate

NEW YORK (AP)—The television and radio networks have proposed that if the presidential candidates decide to hold a fifth debate they should meet face-to-face without a panel of questioners.

The networks, in telegrams to the television advisers of Sen John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, suggested that each candidate make a statement on an agreed-on subject, with each getting time for rebuttal.

The men then could question each other, with a moderator keeping the time—and the peace.

This format originally was suggested by the networks but turned down by the candidates.

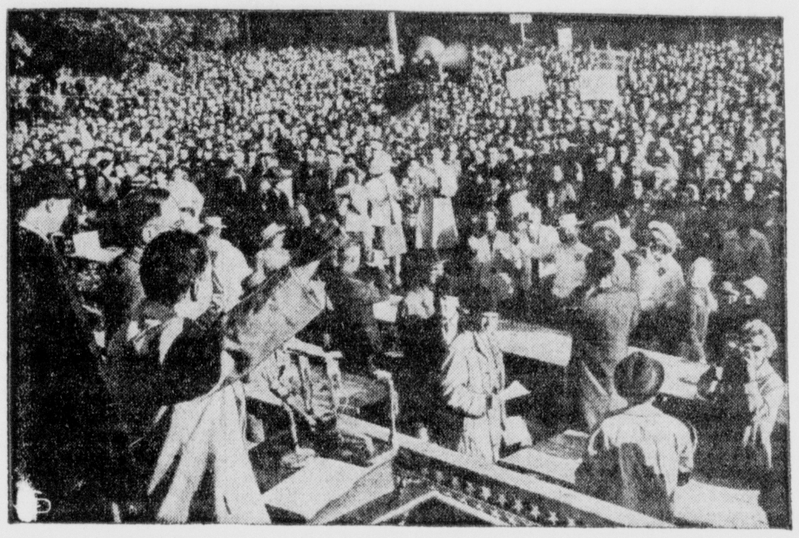

The nominees have reached no agreement on a fifth debate.

Boat Wreck, 2 Bodies Wash Up on Rocks

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Splintered wreckage of the Two Brothers, a 42-foot fishing boat crewed by four Pacific Grove men, washed up on rocks near Monterey Tuesday.

Two bodies were picked up by the Coast Guard, which said the Two Brothers apparently ran into heavy fog Monday and smashed on the rocks.

Nixon Campaigns Hard For Backing from Ohio

A RETURN TO "CORRUPTION" — Whistle-stopping across Ohio and West Virginia (here at Marietta, O.), Vice President Richard Nixon charges that a Democratic victory would mean a return to the "corruption" he said the Republicans had to clean up in Washington in 1953.

Hunt for Votes Gets Furious

Buckeyedom Rated As Pivotal State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio is a privotal state in the presidental election and Richard M. Nixon today was getting in some of his hardest campaign licks in the Buckeye area.

He left Cincinnati this morning and appeared in Middletown, Dayton and Springfield before a noon arrival in Columbus.

The Republican presidential nominee campaigned furiously across Ohio in search of electoral votes that might help him make up for the possible loss of New York in the Nov. 8 balloting.

Striking at his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, Nixon told a train-side crowd in the rain at the steel town of Middletown that his opponent jumps from position to position on international affairs.

Police estimated the crowd at 10,000 persons, which seemed far in excess of the actual turnout. But local newsmen said it was larger than the crowd which previously assembled to hear Kennedy.

In contrast to his rival, Nixon pictured himself as an experienced negotiator who knows how to deal with Khrushchev.

"You have seen the television pictures of Mr. Khrushchev shaking his fist at me," Nixon declared. "The way to deal with him is just to be as firm for the right as he is for the wrong."

As Nixon spoke, some members of the crowd — which included many school chidren — waved signs which read: "One Mr. K is enough—Win with Nixon."

Nixon told an umbrella-bearing crowd which filled the square in front of the Dayton courthouse, he believes his record as a member of the Eisenhower administration qualifies him for the nation's highest office.

The Dayton crowd was estimated at 20,000, about the same as Kennedy drew at last week's appearance in the same city, and from the same platform.

With the aid of President Eisenhower, Nixon will shoot the political works in New York next Wednesday.

Then he will be joined by Eisenhower, vice-presidential nominee Henry Cabot Lodge and GOP Sens. Jacob M. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating in what the Republicans hope will be New York City's biggest ticker-tape reception. Nixon will star that night in a television appearance.

If all this fails to turn the tide that Nixon strategists admit privately is against them in the Empire State, they will try to duplicate Harry Truman's 1948 stunt of winning without New York's 45 electoral votes.

Nixon's associates believe they must take Ohio and its 25 electoral votes, California and Pennsylvania with their 32 each, Illinois with

Man Urges Judge Stop Dad's Driving

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Edward Ashby is 80, stone deaf and extremely independent. He also is a dangerous driver, says his son Wayne, 54.

"Take his license, Judge. I want to save his life or someone else's," the son pleaded in traffic court Tuesday.

The father was charged with reckless driving. Police said he attempted a U-turn in heavy traffic.

Wayne Ashby said state officials refused to revoke his father's license without affidavits.

"My father will obey the law; he won't drive if he doesn't have a license, but as long as he has one he will," the son said

Judge Ralph Stone continued the case to Nov. 29.

Mother Tells Boy to Shoot; Stepdad Dies

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A 17-year-old boy shot and killed his stepfather today near Whitehouse.

Deputies said the victim James L. McCann, 44, of Jeffers Road, Swanton, broke into the home where his estranged wife and stepson were living.

The wife, Mrs. Fern S. McCann, 44, and her son, Edward Seel, told deputies that the man showed up at the house three miles west of Whitehouse and started banging on the doors and shouting.

Mother and son said they armed themselves with shotguns and warned McCann to stay out. He broke in anyway, they said. Mrs. McCann said she attempted to shoot but her gun was unloaded.

The son, told by his mother to shoot, hit his stepfather in the chest with a blast from a .20-gauge shotgun.

Lucas County authorities said Mrs. McCann was seeking a divorce on grounds of cruelty. McCann, arrested two weeks ago on a charge of assault and battery against his wife, was under a peace bond set by County Judge Joseph Cannon.

Assistant Coroner Harry Mignerey issued a tentative verdict of justifiable homocide.

Third of Doctors Tie Cigarettes to Cancer

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey among 587 American doctors discloses that one-third of them believe cigarette smoking is a definite cause of lung cancer, says the American Cancer Society.

Another third regard it as a probable cause, the survey showed.

The figures, released Tuesday at the 47th annual meeting of the society, showed that 22 per cent of the 587 physicians questioned doubt that cigarettes are a factor in lung cancer.

Ohio Non-Farm Employment Picture Is a Little Brighter

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's non-farm employment picture is a little brighter, says a report by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

William Papier, chief of the bureau's division of research and statistics, said that much of the recent gain—to a September total of 3,129,000—was seasonal. For example, schools and colleges reopened, new model cars were put into production, temporary cannery workers were hired.

And he said retail trade anticipated a fall pickup.

Answering the question "has the manufacturing downtrend halted?", the report said "perhaps." Factory employment in Ohio moved up last month for the first gain in seven months. But 69,000 more were employed last February. Hardest hit were makers and users of steel.

What happened between February and September was this: Steel employment dropped more than 26,000; non-electrical machinery employment fell 11,000; motor vehicle manufacturing cut off 10,000, and metal fabricators released 9,000. Electrical machinery, including household appliances, was down nearly 9,000.

Some 82,000 more workers have been added to non-factory payrolls since February, somewhat offsetting factory losses. Much of the gain, however, was seasonal. Construction, for example, added nearly 42,000, and retail trade more than 17,000. Service industries also hired more people — some 13,000.

Last week (ended Oct. 22) nearly 112,000 Ohioans, out of work one week or longer, were claiming benefits—4.6 per cent of those protected by law. This is roughly twice the year-ago figure. Recent trend has been moderately upward.

Of the total, more than 22,000 claimants are in Cleveland, and 12,000 are in the Youngstown-Warren area. Cincinnati has roughly 10,000, and Canton-Massillon-Alliance 6,000. Akron-Barberton, Columbus, and Toledo range between 5,000 and 6,000 each. Dayton has around 4,500.

Poet Awarded Nobel Prize in Literature

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Saint-John Perse, a French poet who once ranked high in his country's diplomatic corps, was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature today.

Now 73, he fled France in 1940 after quarreling with pro-Fascist elements in France. He settled in the United States and became a consultant to the Library of Congress in Washington, where he now lives.

Like much modern poetry, his work is enigmatic and contains many levels of meaning difficult to plumb. Outside of France, his best known work is Anabase, a long poem translated into English by T. S. Eliot, another Nobel laureate.

The title is taken from the ancient Greek historian Xenophon's Anabasis, the story of an epic march. One French critic described Perse's poem as "a series of images of migration, of conquest of vast spaces in Asiatic wastes, of destruction and foundation of cities and civilizations..."

The imagery for the poem, published in 1924, came from a trip Perse took through the Gobi Desert of China. He also traveled in the South Seas, and his poetry is colored by memories of this and the tropical lushness of his early life on the French island of Guadeloupe in the West Indies.

During the 1930s, Perse worked on his poetry at night and in secret. Few of his associates at the French Foreign Office knew of it.

Nixon Blames Truman for Missile Lag

CINCINNATI (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon says the Truman administration is to blame for any American lag behind Russia in intercontinental missiles.

In a position paper on space released Tuesday, the Republican presidential nominee repeated previous GOP charges that the United States made no effort under the Truman administration to match Russian missile developments.

Democrats have said the decision was made that rockets could not carry the then tremendously bulky nuclear warheads and it was not until after a breakthrough to lighter nuclear loads that missiles became practical as carriers.

Nixon said his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, was attempting "to hitch his political wagon to the Soviet Sputnik, charging that the Eisenhower administration is allowing the Soviets to outdistance us in the exploration of space."

"It is irresponsibility of the worst sort for an American presidential candidate to obscure the truth about America's magnificant achievements in space in an attempt to win votes," Nixon said.

The Republican nominee said that of 34 space satellites and probes successfully launched the United States has sent up 26.

Military Plane Crashes on Farm

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff Harold Steele reported at least one fatality today in the crash of a military plane on the James McGee farm six miles northwest of here in Vinton County.

Several buildings on the farm were reported to have been set afire by the crash, and state foresters were called to fight the fire.

The sheriff summoned an ambulance and the county coroner to the scene. He did not know the type of military plane involved.

Officials at Lockbourne Air Force Base in Columbus were sending investigators to the scene in the assumption that it was a plane from that base which crashed. The base had no other details.

Retailers Say U.S. Economy Is 'Robust'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders of the retail industry told President Eisenhower today—and reported he agreed—that the American economy is robust and only going through a "little pause."

The officers and executive committee of the American Retail Federation, representing some 800,000 retailers, said they base their confidence on continued high retail sales and an unprecedented level of personal savings.

Roland Jones Jr. of Washington, president of the federation, told reporters the President "shared our analysis of the present state of the economy."

He said Eisenhower told them the economy can't always be rising, that there has to be a pause once in awhile and there is such a pause now.

As to why the spokesmen for the retailers came in to recite figures Eisenhower already knows, Jones said "We're hearing so many people crying the blues in this country and accentuating the negative we thought it was the fine thing to come in here and accentuate the positive."

reports. He refered newsmen to a statement last week that the President's Committee on Information Activities Abroad had made no report and "no conclusions as to the status of U.S. prestige abroad."

Kennedy said today, in a speech prepared for delivery in Mount Clemens, Mich., that the Defense and State Departments, the International Cooperation Administration, which administers foreign aid "and many other executive agencies have repeatedly refused the public free access to public information."

A congressional committee was blocked from finding out why high bids were accepted and low bids rejected on some government contracts, Kennedy charged, and information sought about the administration of economic and technical aid in India, Laos, Pakistan and Bolivia was refused.

"This administration does not trust the people," Kennedy said. "It has kept the unpleasant truth from them in order to convince them that, as Mr. Nixon says, they never had it so good.

"In recent years the administration has classified (declared secret) three times as many documents as were classified in the entire previous history of American government."

Kennedy turned to the United States Information Agency survey of public opinion abroad, some of which was made public in newspaper stories Tuesday.

"It is bad enough to supress the truth about procurement contracts or foreign aid expenditures to conceal waste or inefficiency or worse. It is far more dangerous to hide the truth about our position abroad—and hide it for political purposes," he said.

He renewed his demand that Nixon make the full report available. He said Nixon had asserted during their last television debate that "the facts simply are not as stated" and that the report in question was many months old. Actually, Kennedy said the study was made only a few weeks ago. He said Nixon should explain why "a public report, paid for with public funds and containing information important to the public, was not made public until its concealment was exposed."

Film Covering City, County Is under Way

Shooting of the documentary film, "The Circleville Story" is in full swing here this week.

The color film on Circleville and Pickaway County is being promoted by Reelife Productions of Beaumont, Calif.

Heading the program here is Wayne Cayton of Mansfield. He said he hopes to finish shooting here in about 10 more days.

Premiere of the film will be shown at the Grand Theater, probably in December. Cayton said the movie will run about 58 minutes.

FILMING began here last week with a complete coverage of the Pumpkin Show. Other motion picture taking centered on church activities, homes, autumn scenes and rural activities.

A print of the film will be presented to the Circleville Chamber of Commerce for further business promotions and reference.

Cotillion Set For Students

The Circleville Cotillion, sponsored by the Pickaway County Association of Women's Clubs, will be held this fall at Memorial Hall beginning Tuesday, November 1.

Cotillion is a course of eight lessons in social dancing and manners. It will be taught by the Jack Sherick Dance Studios.

The sixth grade class will be held from 7-8 p. m.; seventh and eighth grade class, 8-9 p. m.; it may also include students in the ninth and tenth grades.

Classes will be open to county and city school children. Seventh and eighth grade children will learn different dances than the ones they learned in the sixth and seventh grade classes last year.

Hunt for Votes

27, Indiana with 13 and possibly Minnesota with 11.

In this second line of effort to gain the winning margin of 269 electoral votes, Nixon's forces look on Ohio as one of the key areas they must carry.

They got both good and bad news on this endeavor as Nixon set out for a day of whistle-stopping from Democratic Dayton to politically doubtful Columbus and a night appearance in Democratic Toledo.

Nixon got one of the biggest ovations of the campaign by a cheer-led partisan audience packed to the rafters in Cincinnati's 17,000-seat Garden Auditorium Tuesday night. More thousands outside the hall practically mobbed him and Mrs. Nixon on their arrival.

Lodge introduced Nixon to the audience as "the best-equipped man in the nation to guide us as we build our strength to assure peace."

Afterward the two nominees met briefly and agreed that—as Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary put it—"The tide has turned their way." Klein called the Garden appearance "the big-best indoor meeting Nixon has had in the campaign."

Nixon and Lodge both took potshots at their Democratic opponents in Tuesday night's nationally televised appearance. Lodge said Nixon "has never drawn a line and told the Communists to come and get it on the other side of that line." This was a reference to what the Republicans say is Kennedy's stand on Quemoy and Matsu.

Nixon said that "one of the many differences between our ticket and that of our opponents is that I'm always proud to be introduced by my running mate any place in the United States." This was an allusion to what Republicans said was Kennedy's failure to mention his running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, in campaigning outside the South.

Local Chapter Has 3rd Meet

The Pickaway County Chapter March of Dimes held its third meeting here last night at the Trinity Lutheran Church Parish House.

Joseph Andrews of Columbus, the National Foundation's southern Ohio representative, presented an interesting film covering the extensive research in medical fields sponsored by the March of Dimes. He also described the many operation of the National Foundation and the huge part local chapters play in reducing crippling and killing diseases.

David Crawford, this year's campaign director, and Chapter Chairman C. K. Vaughn presided at the meeting.

Director Crawford said many special events are planned prior to the annual March of Dimes drive which will open here in the near future. He said one of the events planned will be a trip to Columbus by board members for a visit at Children's Hospital.

* * *

ALSO present for the meeting was Betty Lou Koch who will head the Mothers' March here. Several of her assistants also attended.

Next meeting of the group is scheduled Nov. 16 at 7:30 p. m. The meeting place will be announced later.

CHS Junior Class To Present Play

The Junior Class of Circleville High School will present its class play, "Bernadine", 8 p. m., November 17-18, in the High School auditorium.

"Bernadine", written by Mary Chase, played on Broadway a few years ago, and was later made into a movie. Tickets may be purchased at the Clifton Auto Sales, 119 S. Court St., from any member of the Junior Class, or at the door the night of the play. Adult tickets are $.75 and students $.50.

Deaths

WAYNE A. HOOVER

Services for Wayne A. Hoover, 81, Route 3, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at Trinity Lutheran Church with Pastor Carl Zehner officiating.

Friends may call at the residence today and tomorrow morning.

CHARLES (BOB) WOLFE

Charles T. Wolfe, 56, of 376 Weldon Ave., died at 8 a. m. yesterday at his home.

He was born January 5, 1904, in Vinton County, the son of Joshua and Minnie Crosby Wolfe.

He is survived by a daughter, Barbara Jane Wolfe; two sons, Charles and Marlin, residence; two brothers, Howard, Ashville and Fred, Route 3; and two sisters Mrs. Agnes Coleman, Tarlton, and Mrs. Beatrice Keaton, 539 E. Union St.

Services will be held at the Defenbaugh Funeral Home at 10:30 a. m. Friday with the Rev. Richard Humble officiating.

Burial will be in Forest Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 6 p. m. tomorrow.

Driver Slightly Hurt in Crash

Charles May, local attorney who lives at 225 S. Court St., was slightly injured in a one-car auto accident at 6:40 p. m. yesterday on County Road 511 about three miles north of here.

May was treated for a laceration of the right hand and other injuries by a local physician.

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said May's car veered into a ditch and struck a culvert. He said the auto was extensively damaged.

Madison PTA Plans Halloween Party

The Madison Twp. PTA will sponsor a Halloween Party 8 p. m. Friday, at the Madison Twp. High School.

Prizes will be awarded for the best masquerade costumes. Everyone is invited. Refreshments will be served during the party and games have been scheduled for participaation from everyone attending.

UNICEF Sets Halloween Drive Friday

The UNICEF "trick or treaters" will assemble at their respective churches here Friday in preparation for their annual campaign to help other children of the world.

The "trick or treaters" will pickup labeled milk cartons and identification tags at the churches before they start their rounds through the city. The UNICEF committee here urges all residents to welcome the youths in their worthwhile effort.

A special UNICEF Halloween program at 5 p. m. Friday at the local churches will signal the start of the campaign which helps save lives through aid to needy children of the world.

The drive here will be conducted by small groups operating in an orderly fashion. UNICEF officials say "be proud to give—the trick or treaters are proud to ask."

* * *

MOTTO for this year's effort is "Help Our Children To Help All the World's Children".

Local churches slated to take part are the First EUB, St. Joseph's Episcopal, Nazarene, Calvary EUB, Church of Christ in First Methodist and Church of the Brethren.

Berger Hospital Treats 2 Persons

Two emergencies were treated and released at Berger Hospital yesterday.

Miller Dunkel, 46, of 471 E. Main St., injured his right hand in a door at work yesterday.

Kenneth Parrett, 19, Williamsport, received a contusion of the scalp when he hit his head on a seat at Williamsport High School yesterday.

Hollow auto crankshafts made of ductile iron are about 40 per cent lighter than those made of forged steel.

reports. He refered newsmen to a statement last week that the President's Committee on Information Activities Abroad had made no report and "no conclusions as to the status of U.S. prestige abroad."

Kennedy said today, in a speech prepared for delivery in Mount Clemens, Mich., that the Defense and State Departments, the International Cooperation Administration, which administers foreign aid "and many other executive agencies have repeatedly refused the public free access to public information."

A congressional committee was blocked from finding out why high bids were accepted and low bids rejected on some government contracts, Kennedy charged, and information sought about the administration of economic and technical aid in India, Laos, Pakistan and Bolivia was refused.

"This administration does not trust the people," Kennedy said. "It has kept the unpleasant truth from them in order to convince them that, as Mr. Nixon says, they never had it so good.

"In recent years the administration has classified (declared secret) three times as many documents as were classified in the entire previous history of American government."

Kennedy turned to the United States Information Agency survey of public opinion abroad, some of which was made public in newspaper stories Tuesday.

"It is bad enough to supress the truth about procurement contracts or foreign aid expenditures to conceal waste or inefficiency or worse. It is far more dangerous to hide the truth about our position abroad—and hide it for political purposes," he said.

He renewed his demand that Nixon make the full report available. He said Nixon had asserted during their last television debate that "the facts simply are not as stated" and that the report in question was many months old. Actually, Kennedy said the study was made only a few weeks ago. He said Nixon should explain why "a public report, paid for with public funds and containing information important to the public, was not made public until its concealment was exposed."

Film Covering City, County Is under Way

Shooting of the documentary film, "The Circleville Story" is in full swing here this week.

The color film on Circleville and Pickaway County is being promoted by Reelife Productions of Beaumont, Calif.

Heading the program here is Wayne Cayton of Mansfield. He said he hopes to finish shooting here in about 10 more days.

Premiere of the film will be shown at the Grand Theater, probably in December. Cayton said the movie will run about 58 minutes.

* * *

FILMING began here last week with a complete coverage of the Pumpkin Show. Other motion picture taking centered on church activities, homes, autumn scenes and rural activities.

A print of the film will be presented to the Circleville Chamber of Commerce for further business promotions and reference.

Cotillion Set For Students

The Circleville Cotillion, sponsored by the Pickaway County Association of Women's Clubs, will be held this fall at Memorial Hall beginning Tuesday, November 1.

Cotillion is a course of eight lessons in social dancing and manners. It will be taught by the Jack Sherick Dance Studios.

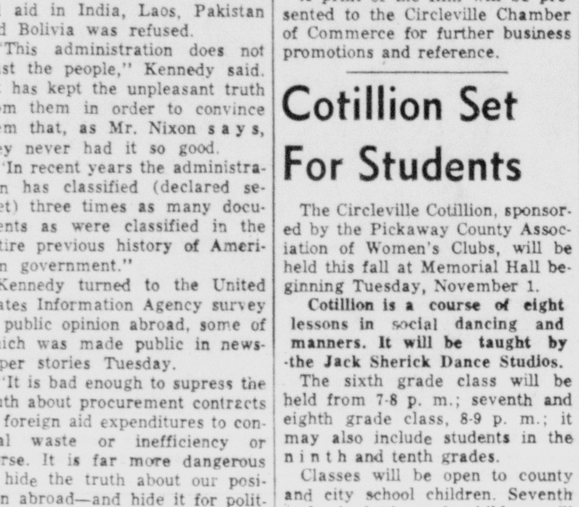

The sixth grade class will be held from 7-8 p. m.; seventh and eighth grade class, 8-9 p. m.; it may also include students in the ninth and tenth grades.

Classes will be open to county and city school children. Seventh and eighth grade children will learn different dances than the ones they learned in the sixth and seventh grade classes last year.

* * *

PROPER attire for girls will be an afternoon dress, sweater or blouse and shirt. Boys should wear a suit or sport coat and trousers with sport or dress shirt.

Membership fee in the cotillion is $5. Membership applications should be mailed to Mrs. Ione Reicheldorfer, 131 E. Union St., as early as possible. Children also may enroll by coming a half hour prior to their class time Tuesday.

Hunt for Votes

27, Indiana with 13 and possibly Minnesota with 11.

In this second line of effort to gain the winning margin of 269 electoral votes, Nixon's forces look on Ohio as one of the key areas they must carry.

They got both good and bad news on this endeavor as Nixon set out for a day of whistle-stopping from Democratic Dayton to politically doubtful Columbus and a night appearance in Democratic Toledo.

Nixon got one of the biggest ovations of the campaign by a cheer-led partisan audience packed to the rafters in Cincinnati's 17,000-seat Garden Auditorium Tuesday night. More thousands outside the hall practically mobbed him and Mrs. Nixon on their arrival.

Lodge introduced Nixon to the audience as "the best-equipped man in the nation to guide us as we build our strength to assure peace."

Afterward the two nominees met briefly and agreed that—as Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary put it—"The tide has turned their way." Klein called the Garden appearance "the big-best indoor meeting Nixon has had in the campaign."

Nixon and Lodge both took potshots at their Democratic opponents in Tuesday night's nationally televised appearance. Lodge said Nixon "has never drawn a line and told the Communists to come and get it on the other side of that line." This was a reference to what the Republicans say is Kennedy's stand on Quemoy and Matsu.

Nixon said that "one of the many differences between our ticket and that of our opponents is that I'm always proud to be introduced by my running mate any place in the United States." This was an allusion to what Republicans said was Kennedy's failure to mention his running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, in campaigning outside the South.

Europe Wants U.S. Now

It is good to feel wanted, psychologists say. If so, Americans should feel good. Europe seems to still want Uncle Sam.

There were doubts. French President De Gaulle seemed to want the U. S. out of Europe last Sept. 5 when he said the European community should prepare for the reduction or elimination of U. S. contributions to the defense of Europe. He expressed a determination to go ahead with development of a French atomic striking force independent of NATO.

French officials have now visited with West German officials to set up a mid-December meeting of the heads of six European nations — France, West Germany, Belgium, Italy, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — to iron out differences.

In telling of plans for the conference, Premier Debre and French Foreign Minister De Murville said they had reassured the Germans De Gaulle's desire for retaining the national identity of French military forces did not indicate a desire to have U. S. forces pull out of Europe.

This was followed by a statement from Adenauer reminding Americans how tightly their own defense is tied in with that of Western Europe.

Apparently now everyone wants American forces to stay — except the Russians, that is.

"What is it now?"

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Sights of Immediate Past

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The teenager, who often occupies the spotlight of our time, is sometimes homesick for arrival to where he hasn't been.

The amount of fun that life and time measure out to each generation probably comes pretty close to being equal. People will not be denied.

The middle-aged person will not be denied either—the road to is usual renown is his memory.

Here are some of the things that those ever-young folk beyond the 'teens—those gay, thoughtful, exuberant people between 20 and surrender—might miss, if they are young or old enough to do so:

Oranges that came one at a time.

Popcorn without aluminum.

Helen Hayes without politics, but never without talent.

Charles Coburn down to his first monocle, and with no objection to the income tax.

There were three primary colors, which everybody knew, and only an artist could describe both beige and taupe.

Dorothy Parker as a wit without apology or explanation.

The depression, when men grew a beard because they lacked both a job and a razor blade—beatniks by necessity for a time.

The ability to rent by choice because they were more empty apartments than people wanting them.

The sound of Rudy Vallee, who always sang as if there was a sinus in his nose.

The sound of Bing Crosby who echoed the dreams of a generation he didn't inherit.

Musical comedies in which Sigmund Freud was not a silent lyricist.

Novels in which he was.

Fatty Arbuckle, before he found time is the most serious of calories, and the one most likely to make a fellow overweight.

Mah-jongg, played with a sense of sedulous newness.

William S. Hart, the Shakespearean actor, dying as the leading cowboy performer of his day.

Two-hour political speeches by candidates on national issues such as the tariff—a 120 minute commercial uninterrupted by a program or a station break.

Women wondering if they smoked a cigarette in public someone might think them too bold.

Long underwear—the poor mans heater in winter.

That great gap in American cultural history between the curls and dimples of Mary Pickford and the dimples and curls of Shirley Temple.

Clark Gable was young, Jean Harlow was a living flame, Wayne King crowned the waltz, Sophie Tucker sighed for real, Joan Crawford was queen of the Charleston, Scott Fitzgerald had pocket money while he wondered about wealth, and Ernest Hemingway was sweating in Paris and hadn't shot a lion in Africa or seen a revolution or a bullfight in Spain.

Those are some of the odd memories that spring without discipline to one middle-aged mind. There are so many, many more.

But what will the teen-ager of today remember of his present world a quarter century from now? What of what we really are as of this moment will endure for tomorrow's folklore?

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

"TAKE IT EASY, son, and stop fidgeting," advised the smiling father of an eligible daughter. "I have a feeling in my bones that you are steeling yourself to ask for my little girl's hand in marriage. Well, take her, my boy, and my blessings on both of you."

"No, no," demurred the embarrassed youth. "I just wanted to know if you'd lend me $25."

"$25!" exploded Papa. "You must be out of your ever-loving head. Why, I hardly know you!"

Neil Morgan tells of a San Diego lawyer who gave his wife a flashy pink dressing gown for Christmas. "The minute the girl at the shop displayed it," enthused the lawyer, "I could see you in it." The wife kissed him indulgently and explained why: she had been wearing one exactly like it for two years.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The presidential candidates have followed two main themes from the beginning of the campaign. This is Nixon's: Kennedy is a young novice on a man's errand. This is Kennedy's: Look out for Nixon.

Their probem has been how to say the same thing differently. Now that the campaign is entering its final two weeks Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy are finding no trouble at all in expressing themselves.

Kennedy started on his beware-of-Nixon program last July 15 in his acceptance speech by saying the vice president's political career has often "seemed to show charity toward none and malice for all."

Nixon laid the groundwork for picturing Kennedy as an immature and not too clear-headed youngster in his own acceptance speech on July 28. He accused his opponent then of being "rash and impulsive" for suggesting President Eisenhower might have expressed regrets to Russia for the U2 spy plane episode.

The political conventions were hardly history before Kennedy—on Aug. 1—was accusing Nixon of a "lack of basic beliefs." This may have nettled Nixon who said Kennedy was "following the low road."

He said he would never "indulge in personalities" although some of the things he has been saying about Kennedy since look mighty personal.

Their first TV debate on Sept. 27 was almost a study in the brotherhood of man, with Nixon politely agreeing with Kennedy (for which Republicans criticized him) and Kennedy treating Nixon like a highly respected old comrade from the Senate.

They got moving by the time of the second debate on Oct. 7. Apparently stung by the complaints from his own ranks, Nixon's first words were, "First of all, I don't agree with Sen. Kennedy."

Pretty soon he was accusing Kennedy of "woolly thinking" on the islands of Quemoy and Matsu. He must have liked the word "woolly" to describe Kennedy. He has repeated it.

By the fourth debate on Oct. 21 Nixon went a step beyond his earlier remarks. He said Kennedy's ideas on handling Fidel Castro's Cuba were "probably the most dangerously irresponsible recommendations that have been made in the campaign."

Kennedy, for some reason best known to himself and his advisers, contented himself with saying little beyond suggesting Nixon was being "inaccurate."

This mildness and restraint was just a passing phase. With the campaign heading toward a finish, look at what they've been saying these past few days.

Nixon has accused Kennedy of being "woolly and fuzzy" in his thinking on Castro, of making "immature, rash and dangerous" statements, and of offering "impulsive leadership." He described Kennedy as a man who doesn't "know the situation and who says one thing today and another thing tomorrow."

Just in case anyone might suspect he was running out of things to say, Nixon predicted: "These are the two weeks in which people make up their minds. Whatever has happened up to this point, you haven't seen anything yet."

Kennedy has gone beyond calling Nixon inaccurate. He accuses him of "distortions" and said the Republican party can count on Nixon "to lead its wrecking crew on Social Security."

And the senator, complaining that Nixon wants to limit a fifth TV debate to a discussion of Cuba instead of a broad discussion on domestic and foreign affairs, said: "This is another indication of the fact that he would rather debate with mimeograph machines and telegrams than face to face."

NIGERIAN ENVOY — Julius Momo Udochi (above), London-trained attorney, is slated to be the first Nigerian ambassador to the U. S. Marks on his face are "tribal scars." Udochi, 46, was a member of a finance group which came to the U. S. in 1958 and helped to secure a $28,000,000 loan from the World Bank.

Red Disarm Ideas Unworkable

By George Sokolsky

In the disarmament discussion, two words, inspection and control, have become stumbling blocks to understanding. This has been so since the very first discussions of the atom bomb in the early years of the United Nations.

Bernard Baruch represented the United States anl he was adamant that there could be no blind disarmament: that we had to know what we were doing.

The realistic danger is surprise attack. Khrushchev takes the position that he would never be so wicked as to do such a thing, but there is no reason to have a blind date with him. It is more scientific to have a United Nations commission inspect all countries, discover what is available, and for a United Nations commission to control the disarmament and to keep the record.

Professor Henry A. Kissinger makes the point:

". . . As long as the retaliatory forces are composed primarily of liquid-fuel missiles and airplanes — as they will be until the middle sixties — the side which strikes first will have a perhaps decisive advantage unless the defender's retaliatory force is in a state of high readiness. But when two retaliatory forces so constituted confront each other, their very structure may contribute to instability regardless of the intentions of the two sides. Even if those intentions are peaceful, each side must seek to protect itself against castastrophe by increasing the readiness and security of its retaliatory force. . ."

If Khrushchev is sincere in desiring disarmament, he must agree to inspection and control as a prior step toward disarmament. His failure to accept inspection and control indicates that he does not believe in universal disarmament, that he would like the West to disarm, while he hides weapons.

President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan was the most that could be afforded by the West. Soviet Russia rejected that. Khrushchev says disarm first and negotiate about controls afterwards, but that is precisely where the danger lies.

Professor Kissinger makes the point that even 50 hidden weapons would confer "a perhaps overwhelming superiority." Why should we risk that?

The conclusion must be reached from the long record of discussion on this subject that Soviet Russia only wishes to discuss disarmament but does not wish to disarm. As a matter of fact, Soviet Russia cannot afford to disarm.

In the first place, Soviet Russia now lives in definite peril that Red China will increase its armaments and will be manufacturing rockets and missiles. Red China can afford to be the aggressor because its traditions are impervious to the loss of human life. The loss of 100,000,000 persons in China would mean practically nothing.

Secondly, unless Soviet Russia rules its satellites, it cannot hold them at all. The East Germans have a tradition of hatred for the Slavs which runs throughout the history of both countries. Latvia, Esthonia, Lithuania, Poland, and Hungary are held by force and by force alone. Even if Soviet Russia were limited to the use of orthodox weapons, these countries could not be held. Therefore in this stage of its development, Soviet Russia must maintain a military force sufficient to hold its entire empire.

Thirdly, the Soviet Revolution is not yet ready to reveal its correct achievements to the world. Inspection could produce reports of mechanical and technical inadequacy which the Western countries do not fear but which Soviet Russia cannot tolerate.

It is therefore evident why Khrushchev makes such impossible conditions for disarmament. What are those conditions:

1. Total disarmament of both orthodox and unorthodox weapons.

2. No inspection whatsoever until the disarmament has been completed? Nations of good will trust each other. But suppose such faith turns out to be unjustified. Then it is just too bad.

3. Control is to be set up after disarmament has been completed. But how is the control to be set up? By a representative of the West; a representative of the Soviet countries; a representative of the neutrals. Each representative is to have the right of veto. Therefore the control cannot work. The Secretariat of the United Nations is to be similarly arranged so that it cannot function. Therefore there will be no control.

It is difficult to understand how any sane person would expect the United States to accept a proposition, but obviously, it was offered not to be accepted.

Freedom Seeker Gives West Advice

NEW YORK (AP)—The Estonian sailor who fled from Soviet Premier Khrushchev's liner Baltika says the West should "demand more from the Kremlin and yield less to false maneuvers."

Viktor Jaaminets, in his first formal speech since being granted political asylum here, told delegates to the Assembly of Captive European Nations Monday: "Many tremble behind the Iron Curtain waiting for deeds of men from among you and your friends."

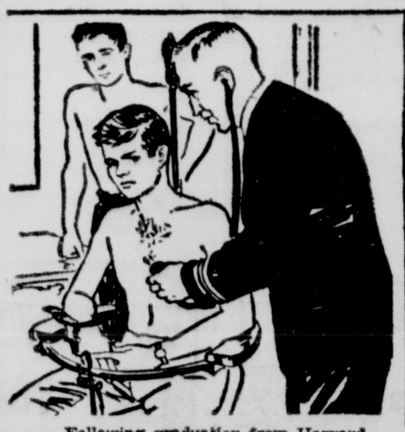

The sailor jumped the Baltika while it was tied up in New York.

Seaway Closure Slated

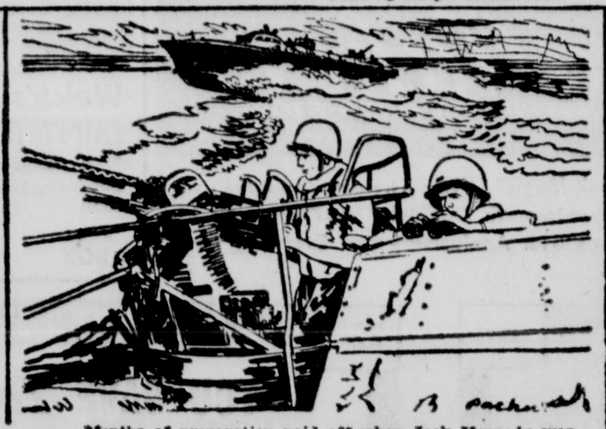

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — The American section of the St. Lawrence Seaway will close on Nov. 30 for the winter, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. said today.

Life Story of John F. Kennedy

Illustrated by A. S. Packer
Text by Ralph Hollenbeck

. . . Following graduation from Harvard, Jack Kennedy was a graduate student in business administration at Stanford, Herbert Hoover's alma mater. As the U.S. drifted into the war, Jack left after six months at Palo Alto to enlist. When rejected by both the Army and Navy because of a back injury, Jack began a strenuous five-month course of exercising to strengthen his physique . . .

. . . Months of preparation paid off when Jack Kennedy was finally accepted by the U.S. Navy. His initial efforts to be sent on active sea duty failed when he was assigned to Navy foreign intelligence in Washington. When Pearl Harbor was sneak-attacked, Jack reluctantly used his father's influence and was assigned to a torpedo boat squadron. While in command of PT-109 in the Solomons, on a night in August 1943, Kennedy's craft was sliced in half by a Japanese destroyer. Two men were killed instantly; the remainder were dumped into enemy waters, three miles from the nearest uninhabited Japanese island . . .

Combat and Commendation

. . . A sister PT-boat witnessed the sinking of Lt. Kennedy's craft and reported to base, "No chance for survival." Services were held later for the lost men of PT-109. But Kennedy rallied his crew and they began swimming to an unoccupied island. Kennedy towed the most seriously injured of his mates for five hours to shore. Europe Wants U.S. Now

It is good to feel wanted, psychologists say. If so, Americans should feel good. Europe seems to still want Uncle Sam.

There were doubts. French President De Gaulle seemed to want the U. S. out of Europe last Sept. 5 when he said the European community should prepare for the reduction or elimination of U. S. contributions to the defense of Europe. He expressed a determination to go ahead with development of a French atomic striking force independent of NATO.

French officials have now visited with West German officials to set up a mid-December meeting of the heads of six European nations — France, West Germany, Belgium, Italy, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — to iron out differences.

In telling of plans for the conference, Premier Debre and French Foreign Minister De Murville said they had reassured the Germans De Gaulle's desire for retaining the national identity of French military forces did not indicate a desire to have U. S. forces pull out of Europe.

This was followed by a statement from Adenauer reminding Americans how tightly their own defense is tied in with that of Western Europe.

Apparently now everyone wants American forces to stay — except the Russians, that is.

Sights of Immediate Past

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The teenager, who often occupies the spotlight of our time, is sometimes homesick for arrival to where he hasn't been.

The amount of fun that life and time measure out to each generation probably comes pretty close to being equal. People will not be denied.

The middle-aged person will not be denied either—the road to is usual renown is his memory.

Here are some of the things that those ever-young folk beyond the 'teens—those gay, thoughtful, exuberant people between 20 and surrender—might miss, if they are young or old enough to do so:

Oranges that came one at a time.

Popcorn without aluminum.

Helen Hayes without politics, but never without talent.

Charles Coburn down to his first monocle, and with no objection to the income tax.

There were three primary colors, which everybody knew, and only an artist could describe both beige and taupe.

Dorothy Parker as a wit without apology or explanation.

The depression, when men grew a beard because they lacked both a job and a razor blade—beatniks by necessity for a time.

The ability to rent by choice because they were more empty apartments than people wanting them.

The sound of Rudy Vallee, who always sang as if there was a sinus in his nose.

The sound of Bing Crosby who echoed the dreams of a generation he didn't inherit.

Musical comedies in which Sigmund Freud was not a silent lyricist.

Novels in which he was.

Fatty Arbuckle, before he found time is the most serious of calories, and the one most likely to make a fellow overweight.

Mah-jongg, played with a sense of sedulous newness.

William S. Hart, the Shakespearean actor, dying as the leading cowboy performer of his day.

Two-hour political speeches by candidates on national issues such as the tariff—a 120 minute commercial uninterrupted by a program or a station break.

Women wondering if they smoked a cigarette in public someone might think them too bold.

Long underwear—the poor mans heater in winter.

That great gap in American cultural history between the curls and dimples of Mary Pickford and the dimples and curls of Shirley Temple.

Clark Gable was young, Jean Harlow was a living flame, Wayne King crowned the waltz, Sophie Tucker sighed for real, Joan Crawford was queen of the Charleston, Scott Fitzgerald had pocket money while he wondered about wealth, and Ernest Hemingway was sweating in Paris and hadn't shot a lion in Africa or seen a revolution or a bullfight in Spain.

Those are some of the odd memories that spring without discipline to one middle-aged mind. There are so many, many more.

But what will the teen-ager of today remember of his present world a quarter century from now? What of what we really are as of this moment will endure for tomorrow's folklore?

Red Disarm Ideas Unworkable

By George Sokolsky

In the disarmament discussion, two words, inspection and control, have become stumbling blocks to understanding. This has been so since the very first discussions of the atom bomb in the early years of the United Nations.

Bernard Baruch represented the United States anl he was adamant that there could be no blind disarmament: that we had to know what we were doing.

The realistic danger is surprise attack. Khrushchev takes the position that he would never be so wicked as to do such a thing, but there is no reason to have a blind date with him. It is more scientific to have a United Nations commission inspect all countries, discover what is available, and for a United Nations commission to control the disarmament and to keep the record.

Professor Henry A. Kissinger makes the point:

". . . As long as the retaliatory forces are composed primarily of liquid-fuel missiles and airplanes — as they will be until the middle sixties — the side which strikes first will have a perhaps decisive advantage unless the defender's retaliatory force is in a state of high readiness. But when two retaliatory forces so constituted confront each other, their very structure may contribute to instability regardless of the intentions of the two sides. Even if those intentions are peaceful, each side must seek to protect itself against castastrophe by increasing the readiness and security of its retaliatory force. . ."

If Khrushchev is sincere in desiring disarmament, he must agree to inspection and control as a prior step toward disarmament. His failure to accept inspection and control indicates that he does not believe in universal disarmament, that he would like the West to disarm, while he hides weapons.

President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan was the most that could be afforded by the West. Soviet Russia rejected that. Khrushchev says disarm first and negotiate about controls afterwards, but that is precisely where the danger lies.

Professor Kissinger makes the point that even 50 hidden weapons would confer "a perhaps overwhelming superiority." Why should we risk that?

The conclusion must be reached from the long record of discussion on this subject that Soviet Russia only wishes to discuss disarmament but does not wish to disarm. As a matter of fact, Soviet Russia cannot afford to disarm.

In the first place, Soviet Russia now lives in definite peril that Red China will increase its armaments and will be manufacturing rockets and missiles. Red China can afford to be the aggressor because its traditions are impervious to the loss of human life. The loss of 100,000,000 persons in China would mean practically nothing.

Secondly, unless Soviet Russia rules its satellites, it cannot hold them at all. The East Germans have a tradition of hatred for the Slavs which runs throughout the history of both countries. Latvia, Esthonia, Lithuania, Poland, and Hungary are held by force and by force alone. Even if Soviet Russia were limited to the use of orthodox weapons, these countries could not be held. Therefore in this stage of its development, Soviet Russia must maintain a military force sufficient to hold its entire empire.

Thirdly, the Soviet Revolution is not yet ready to reveal its correct achievements to the world. Inspection could produce reports of mechanical and technical inadequacy which the Western countries do not fear but which Soviet Russia cannot tolerate.

It is therefore evident why Khrushchev makes such impossible conditions for disarmament. What are those conditions:

1. Total disarmament of both orthodox and unorthodox weapons.

2. No inspection whatsoever until the disarmament has been completed? Nations of good will trust each other. But suppose such faith turns out to be unjustified. Then it is just too bad.

3. Control is to be set up after disarmament has been completed. But how is the control to be set up? By a representative of the West; a representative of the Soviet countries; a representative of the neutrals. Each representative is to have the right of veto. Therefore the control cannot work. The Secretariat of the United Nations is to be similarly arranged so that it cannot function. Therefore there will be no control.

It is difficult to understand how any sane person would expect the United States to accept a proposition, but obviously, it was offered not to be accepted.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

"TAKE IT EASY, son, and stop fidgeting," advised the smiling father of an eligible daughter. "I have a feeling in my bones that you are steeling yourself to ask for my little girl's hand in marriage. Well, take her, my boy, and my blessings on both of you."

"No, no," demurred the embarrassed youth. "I just wanted to know if you'd lend me $25."

"$25!" exploded Papa. "You must be out of your ever-loving head. Why, I hardly know you!"

Neil Morgan tells of a San Diego lawyer who gave his wife a flashy pink dressing gown for Christmas. "The minute the girl at the shop displayed it," enthused the lawyer, "I could see you in it." The wife kissed him indulgently and explained why: she had been wearing one exactly like it for two years.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The presidential candidates have followed two main themes from the beginning of the campaign. This is Nixon's: Kennedy is a young novice on a man's errand. This is Kennedy's: Look out for Nixon.

Their probem has been how to say the same thing differently. Now that the campaign is entering its final two weeks Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy are finding no trouble at all in expressing themselves.

Kennedy started on his beware-of-Nixon program last July 15 in his acceptance speech by saying the vice president's political career has often "seemed to show charity toward none and malice for all."

Nixon laid the groundwork for picturing Kennedy as an immature and not too clear-headed youngster in his own acceptance speech on July 28. He accused his opponent then of being "rash and impulsive" for suggesting President Eisenhower might have expressed regrets to Russia for the U2 spy plane episode.

The political conventions were hardly history before Kennedy—on Aug. 1—was accusing Nixon of a "lack of basic beliefs." This may have nettled Nixon who said Kennedy was "following the low road."

He said he would never "indulge in personalities" although some of the things he has been saying about Kennedy since look mighty personal.

Their first TV debate on Sept. 27 was almost a study in the brotherhood of man, with Nixon politely agreeing with Kennedy (for which Republicans criticized him) and Kennedy treating Nixon like a highly respected old comrade from the Senate.

They got moving by the time of the second debate on Oct. 7. Apparently stung by the complaints from his own ranks, Nixon's first words were, "First of all, I don't agree with Sen. Kennedy."

Pretty soon he was accusing Kennedy of "woolly thinking" on the islands of Quemoy and Matsu. He must have liked the word "woolly" to describe Kennedy. He has repeated it.

By the fourth debate on Oct. 21 Nixon went a step beyond his earlier remarks. He said Kennedy's ideas on handling Fidel Castro's Cuba were "probably the most dangerously irresponsible recommendations that have been made in the campaign."

Kennedy, for some reason best known to himself and his advisers, contented himself with saying little beyond suggesting Nixon was being "inaccurate."

This mildness and restraint was just a passing phase. With the campaign heading toward a finish, look at what they've been saying these past few days.

Nixon has accused Kennedy of being "woolly and fuzzy" in his thinking on Castro, of making "immature, rash and dangerous" statements, and of offering "impulsive leadership." He described Kennedy as a man who doesn't "know the situation and who says one thing today and another thing tomorrow."

Just in case anyone might suspect he was running out of things to say, Nixon predicted: "These are the two weeks in which people make up their minds. Whatever has happened up to this point, you haven't seen anything yet."

Kennedy has gone beyond calling Nixon inaccurate. He accuses him of "distortions" and said the Republican party can count on Nixon "to lead its wrecking crew on Social Security."

And the senator, complaining that Nixon wants to limit a fifth TV debate to a discussion of Cuba instead of a broad discussion on domestic and foreign affairs, said: "This is another indication of the fact that he would rather debate with mimeograph machines and telegrams than face to face."

Life Story of John F. Kennedy

Text by Ralph Hollenbeck

. . . Following graduation from Harvard, Jack Kennedy was a graduate student in business administration at Stanford, Herbert Hoover's alma mater. As the U.S. drifted into the war, Jack left after six months at Palo Alto to enlist. When rejected by both the Army and Navy because of a back injury, Jack began a strenuous five-month course of exercising to strengthen his physique . . .

. . . Months of preparation paid off when Jack Kennedy was finally accepted by the U.S. Navy. His initial efforts to be sent on active sea duty failed when he was assigned to Navy foreign intelligence in Washington. When Pearl Harbor was sneak-attacked, Jack reluctantly used his father's influence and was assigned to a torpedo boat squadron. While in command of PT-109 in the Solomons, on a night in August 1943, Kennedy's craft was sliced in half by a Japanese destroyer. Two men were killed instantly; the remainder were dumped into enemy waters, three miles from the nearest uninhabited Japanese island . . .

Combat and Commendation

. . . A sister PT-boat witnessed the sinking of Lt. Kennedy's craft and reported to base, "No chance for survival." Services were held later for the lost men of PT-109. But Kennedy rallied his crew and they began swimming to an unoccupied island. Kennedy towed the most seriously injured of his mates for five hours to shore. After three days without food or water it was decided to try for another island. Again Jack towed his injured crewman. Luckily, an abandoned enemy pillbox yielded water, food and a native dugout. OLD-TIME POTATO SALAD

Ingredients: 1½ pounds small new potatoes (cooked in their jackets and peeled and diced in about ¾-inch pieces), ¾ cup boiled dressing, ¼ cup finely diced scallions (green tops included), 1 cup finely diced celery, salt, white pepper.

Method: Mix the hot diced potatoes lightly with ½ cup of the dressing and allow to stand until cool. Add scallions and celery to remaining ¼ cup dressing; mix lightly with potatoes and salt and pepper to taste. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Cook unpared potatoes in 1 quart boiling water with 1 teaspoon salt just until tender; if long white potatoes are used, you'll find they hold their shape well in the salad.

Party Scheduled At Five Points

A Halloween Party will be staged Friday night by members of the Five Points Methodist Social Hour Club in the church basement.

Each family is asked to bring a dozen doughnuts. A fine will be imposed on those who come unmasked.

You'll find your salads and desserts made with gelatin will unmold more easily from metal containers than from glass or earthenware receptacles.

Garden Club Discusses Regional Meet

Mrs. Marvin Jones and Mrs. W. R. Sunderland were named delegates to the regional meeting Monday night at the Mt. Pleasant Garden Club session of Kingston.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. F. B. Mowery, Kingston, with Miss Gertrude Senff assisting.

The regional meeting will be held at Basil, Thursday, November 17. Mrs. Harrison Wolfe, Mrs. J. L. Maxwell and Mrs. Printis Spear were received as new members.

Autumn Splendor in crescent shape was the featured arrangement for the evening. First place was awarded to Miss Senff; Mrs. Jones, 2nd; and Mrs. Fred Schiff, 3rd.

Mrs. Senff, past president, was presented with a gift from the club members. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Christmas arrangements will be featured at the next meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert Rounsely.

Cheryl Lovett Has Birthday

Halloween decorations were used throughout the home of Mrs. James Lovett, Stoutsville, when she entertained her daughter, Cheryl, on her tenth birthday Sunday.

Games were played followed by refreshments.

Guests included Judy Sharp, Sandra McJunkin, Linda Bowman, Lee Ellen Morehead, Amanda; Janie Clark, Williamsport; Carol Hill, Kingston;

Barbara and Pamela Cole, Connie Kiser, Nancy Betts, Brenda, Louise and Wanda Cox, Diana Burst, Deborah Rhymer, Elizabeth Marshall and Donna Poling, Stoutsville.

Those assisting Mrs. Lovett were Mrs. Ota Lovett, Mrs. Mae Hartley, Mrs. Helen Senff and Mrs. Eugene Crawford.

Local Residents Return Home

Mrs. Ralph Peters Sr., Ashville, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Rinehart and Mrs. McClellan Clark, Circleville, have returned home after a two week's tour of the southern states.

They toured Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

They attended a National Gospel Singing Convention, Georgia. They visited with the Rev. and Mrs. Sammy Sparks and Jeff, Florida, and the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Peters, North Carolina, former residents of Circleville.

Mrs. Ray Davis Discusses Charity at Monday Club

"Trick or Treat" was the title of the paper prepared and read by Mrs. Ray Davis to Monday Club members Monday night, at Memorial Hall.

It was concerned with the subject "where does your charity dollar go"? or "The fund-raising muddle" or "The Race for your charity dollar".

Mrs. Davis stated that it is an acknowledged fact that fund raising for charitable purposes has developed into a major muddle, the reason for which developes from three well-known qualities of the American People are:

1—We are generous and respond to an appeal if it carries sufficient emotional impact; 2—We are organization minded and tend to follow the course of "modern efficiency" by hiring a professional to do the planning while we do the work. We must then report to the person we hired with so many reports needed that it leads to the need of an office and additional staff; 3—We are a nation of business people and it is natural that we have converted the impulse towards generosity into a business with all the assets and liabilities of a business. Philanthropy is more than a charitable impulse now—it represents a business opportunity, a profession, a career.

Young men are being educated today to become career men in the field of Philanthropy. They are college trained and experienced in the field of collecting and suspending charitable dollars and government dollars she said.

Philanthropy is big business, reputedly the third largest in the country with an annual income of $7 billion. At least three million persons work as volunteers on national drives alone. Every American feels the impact of the race for charity dollars.

Some Americans are getting pretty unhappy about this. Alexander Jones, speaking for the American Society of Newspaper Editors says bluntly" We are dupes of professional money - raisers preying on human misery".

Mrs. Davis cited examples of how our charity dollars are spent in various health organizations and told of the waste and extravagance of over-lapping and competitive practices among the health funds.

Currently, there is a battle being waged between the United Appeals or Community Funds and some of the National Health Funds or Foundations, with a great deal of acrimony and hard feelings on both sides, with charges and counter-charges field in the public press or shouted across conference tables.

The major health funds claim that on a national level may be financial needs of the funds be properly estimated and apportioned, and they are insistent that only professionals can allocate money for research and education.

It is true that the health funds have performed a great service in influencing public opinion towards education in the detection and treatment of their respective diseases and in securing government money and programs directed toward their goals.

One problem of increasing severity concerns rivalry among research projects for the services of qualified scientists. A current magazine states" Already, more money is available for research than there are scientists to do the work. Research Funds are competing for the services of a limited number of capable scientists."

Another magazine offers practical advice 1—Never give to a street solicitor, unless the drive has been officially certified in your community; 2— Under no circumstances should you ever respond to an appeal by phone; 3—Never donate to any cause that has sent you unsolicited merchandise; 4—When in doubt, check you Better Business Bureau; 5— Learn to say No. You cannot possibly support every charity which asks you for money: 6—Do everything possible to reinforce the program of your favorite national charity; 7—Support you Community Chest or United Appeals.

In conclusion Mrs. Davis said "Philanthropy is big business. It is becoming impersonal, far removed from that Christian concept of "Inasmuch as ye have done it to the least of these, my brethern ye have done it unto Me." The payroll check-off system of charitable donations does not bring to the donor much of the spirit of brotherly love. One is reminded of the truth of the old line "the gift without the giver is bare".

During the business meeting, Mrs. Clark Will, president, thanked Monday Club members who had participated in Pumpkin Show activities.

Mrs. Davis reported on the Fall District Conference of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs which was held in Lancaster October 18th.

Mrs. John Eshelman To Attend Luncheon

Mrs. John W. Eshelman, N. Pickaway St., chairman of Pickaway County Martha Kinney Cooper Ohioana Library Association, has been invited to be a hostess at its 31st annual meeting and luncheon Saturday at the Neil House, Columbus.

Presentation of a career medal, six book awards and two citations will be featured during the program. Bruce Catton, Civil War author, will be guest speaker.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

A Mother's Sorrow

DEAR ABBY: Seven years ago my little girl of 9 died suddenly. She was my only daughter and I haven't been the same since. Abby, am I wrong to ask my husband to move? Her playmates live all around us and need I tell you how I feel watching them grow, year after year? I can't hold back the tears when I meet them, so I avoid them (poor darlings). My husband says he's put so much money into this house and feels that I'll get over it. I've been trying to forget, but how does a mother forget? He says he wants to teach me to be strong like a million other mothers who have lost a child. I know I'll be happier if we move—then I won't see her bedroom and the chair she curled up in to watch TV, and her empty place at the dining room table. Please, please, Dear Abby, am I asking too much to move?

A DESPERATE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You are not asking too much. New surroundings, no matter how plain, would be better than the old reminders. I hope your husband will see it your way and consent to move.

DEAR ABBY: I am not stacked and everyone teases me about it. Mom says, "No substitutes!" It's a very embarrassing situation. I am 15. Have you any suggestions?

FROM FLATSVILLE

DEAR FROM FLATSVILLE: If Mom says no substitutes—then it's no substitutes. If you don't "fill out" in a year or two, write again and I'll "fill you in" with another angle.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a guy who says he would like to have about six kids, but he doesn't care for marriage. He doesn't mean he never wants to get married. He means he thinks he would like to be a father but he wouldn't care to be a husband. (Am I making myself clear? He says that the women today are just looking for a meal ticket and once they nail a guy they take it easy. If I had the chance I know I could prove to him that I wasn't that kind. How can I get him to marry me?

WANT THAT MAN

DEAR WANT: If you're lucky, you'll get him to leave you alone. A man who wants all the dividends but is reluctant to make the initial investment is a poor risk.

CONFIDENTIAL TO JUDY: Don't plan on marrying for "better or for worse" .... plan on marrying for GOOD!

OLD-TIME POTATO SALAD

Ingredients: 1½ pounds small new potatoes (cooked in their jackets and peeled and diced in about ¾-inch pieces), ¾ cup boiled dressing, ¼ cup finely diced scallions (green tops included), 1 cup finely diced celery, salt, white pepper.

Method: Mix the hot diced potatoes lightly with ½ cup of the dressing and allow to stand until cool. Add scallions and celery to remaining ¼ cup dressing; mix lightly with potatoes and salt and pepper to taste. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Cook unpared potatoes in 1 quart boiling water with 1 teaspoon salt just until tender; if long white potatoes are used, you'll find they hold their shape well in the salad.

Party Scheduled At Five Points

A Halloween Party will be staged Friday night by members of the Five Points Methodist Social Hour Club in the church basement.

Each family is asked to bring a dozen doughnuts. A fine will be imposed on those who come unmasked.

You'll find your salads and desserts made with gelatin will unmold more easily from metal containers than from glass or earthenware receptacles.

Garden Club Discusses Regional Meet

Mrs. Marvin Jones and Mrs. W. R. Sunderland were named delegates to the regional meeting Monday night at the Mt. Pleasant Garden Club session of Kingston.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. F. B. Mowery, Kingston, with Miss Gertrude Senff assisting.

The regional meeting will be held at Basil, Thursday, November 17. Mrs. Harrison Wolfe, Mrs. J. L. Maxwell and Mrs. Printis Spear were received as new members.

Autumn Splendor in crescent shape was the featured arrangement for the evening. First place was awarded to Miss Senff; Mrs. Jones, 2nd; and Mrs. Fred Schiff, 3rd.

Mrs. Senff, past president, was presented with a gift from the club members. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Christmas arrangements will be featured at the next meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert Rounsely.

Cheryl Lovett Has Birthday

Halloween decorations were used throughout the home of Mrs. James Lovett, Stoutsville, when she entertained her daughter, Cheryl, on her tenth birthday Sunday.

Games were played followed by refreshments.

Guests included Judy Sharp, Sandra McJunkin, Linda Bowman, Lee Ellen Morehead, Amanda; Janie Clark, Williamsport; Carol Hill, Kingston;

Barbara and Pamela Cole, Connie Kiser, Nancy Betts, Brenda, Louise and Wanda Cox, Diana Burst, Deborah Rhymer, Elizabeth Marshall and Donna Poling, Stoutsville.

Those assisting Mrs. Lovett were Mrs. Ota Lovett, Mrs. Mae Hartley, Mrs. Helen Senff and Mrs. Eugene Crawford.

Local Residents Return Home

Mrs. Ralph Peters Sr., Ashville, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Rinehart and Mrs. McClellan Clark, Circleville, have returned home after a two week's tour of the southern states.

They toured Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

They attended a National Gospel Singing Convention, Georgia. They visited with the Rev. and Mrs. Sammy Sparks and Jeff, Florida, and the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Peters, North Carolina, former residents of Circleville.

Mrs. Ray Davis Discusses Charity at Monday Club

"Trick or Treat" was the title of the paper prepared and read by Mrs. Ray Davis to Monday Club members Monday night, at Memorial Hall.

It was concerned with the subject "where does your charity dollar go"? or "The fund-raising muddle" or "The Race for your charity dollar".

Mrs. Davis stated that it is an acknowledged fact that fund raising for charitable purposes has developed into a major muddle, the reason for which developes from three well-known qualities of the American People are:

1—We are generous and respond to an appeal if it carries sufficient emotional impact; 2—We are organization minded and tend to follow the course of "modern efficiency" by hiring a professional to do the planning while we do the work. We must then report to the person we hired with so many reports needed that it leads to the need of an office and additional staff; 3—We are a nation of business people and it is natural that we have converted the impulse towards generosity into a business with all the assets and liabilities of a business. Philanthropy is more than a charitable impulse now—it represents a business opportunity, a profession, a career.

Young men are being educated today to become career men in the field of Philanthropy. They are college trained and experienced in the field of collecting and suspending charitable dollars and government dollars she said.

Philanthropy is big business, reputedly the third largest in the country with an annual income of $7 billion. At least three million persons work as volunteers on national drives alone. Every American feels the impact of the race for charity dollars.

Some Americans are getting pretty unhappy about this. Alexander Jones, speaking for the American Society of Newspaper Editors says bluntly" We are dupes of professional money - raisers preying on human misery".

Mrs. Davis cited examples of how our charity dollars are spent in various health organizations and told of the waste and extravagance of over-lapping and competitive practices among the health funds.

Currently, there is a battle being waged between the United Appeals or Community Funds and some of the National Health Funds or Foundations, with a great deal of acrimony and hard feelings on both sides, with charges and counter-charges field in the public press or shouted across conference tables.

The major health funds claim that on a national level may be financial needs of the funds be properly estimated and apportioned, and they are insistent that only professionals can allocate money for research and education.

It is true that the health funds have performed a great service in influencing public opinion towards education in the detection and treatment of their respective diseases and in securing government money and programs directed toward their goals.

One problem of increasing severity concerns rivalry among research projects for the services of qualified scientists. A current magazine states" Already, more money is available for research than there are scientists to do the work. Research Funds are competing for the services of a limited number of capable scientists."

Another magazine offers practical advice 1—Never give to a street solicitor, unless the drive has been officially certified in your community; 2— Under no circumstances should you ever respond to an appeal by phone; 3—Never donate to any cause that has sent you unsolicited merchandise; 4—When in doubt, check you Better Business Bureau; 5— Learn to say No. You cannot possibly support every charity which asks you for money: 6—Do everything possible to reinforce the program of your favorite national charity; 7—Support you Community Chest or United Appeals.

In conclusion Mrs. Davis said "Philanthropy is big business. It is becoming impersonal, far removed from that Christian concept of "Inasmuch as ye have done it to the least of these, my brethern ye have done it unto Me." The payroll check-off system of charitable donations does not bring to the donor much of the spirit of brotherly love. One is reminded of the truth of the old line "the gift without the giver is bare".

During the business meeting, Mrs. Clark Will, president, thanked Monday Club members who had participated in Pumpkin Show activities.

Mrs. Davis reported on the Fall District Conference of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs which was held in Lancaster October 18th.

Mrs. John Eshelman To Attend Luncheon

Mrs. John W. Eshelman, N. Pickaway St., chairman of Pickaway County Martha Kinney Cooper Ohioana Library Association, has been invited to be a hostess at its 31st annual meeting and luncheon Saturday at the Neil House, Columbus.

Presentation of a career medal, six book awards and two citations will be featured during the program. Bruce Catton, Civil War author, will be guest speaker.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

A Mother's Sorrow

DEAR ABBY: Seven years ago my little girl of 9 died suddenly She was my only daughter and I haven't been the same since. Abby, am I wrong to ask my husband to move? Her playmates live all around us and need I tell you how I feel watching them grow, year after year? I can't hold back the tears when I meet them, so I avoid them (poor darlings). My husband says he's put so much money into this house and feels that I'll get over it. I've been trying to forget, but how does a mother forget? He says he wants to teach me to be strong like a million other mothers who have lost a child. I know I'll be happier if we move—then I won't see her bedroom and the chair she curled up in to watch TV, and her empty place at the dining room table. Please, please, Dear Abby, am I asking too much to move?

A DESPERATE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You are not asking too much. New surroundings, no matter how plain, would be better than the old reminders. I hope your husband will see it your way and consent to move.

DEAR ABBY: I am not stacked and everyone teases me about it. Mom says, "No substitutes!" It's a very embarrassing situation. I am 15. Have you any suggestions?

FROM FLATSVILLE

DEAR FROM FLATSVILLE: If Mom says no substitutes—then it's no substitutes. If you don't "fill out" in a year or two, write again and I'll "fill you in" with another angle.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a guy who says he would like to have about six kids, but he doesn't care for marriage. He doesn't mean he never wants to get married. He means he thinks he would like to be a father but he wouldn't care to be a husband. (Am I making myself clear? He says that the women today are just looking for a meal ticket and once they nail a guy they take it easy. If I had the chance I know I could prove to him that I wasn't that kind. How can I get him to marry me?

WANT THAT MAN

DEAR WANT: If you're lucky, you'll get him to leave you alone. A man who wants all the dividends but is reluctant to make the initial investment is a poor risk.

CONFIDENTIAL TO JUDY: Don't plan on marrying for "better or for worse" ..... plan on marrying for GOOD!

Science Finds Elephant Seals Chew Tobacco

By THE ASSOCIATES PRESS

Tobacco and seals, tanks and TV, these are topics this week from science at work:

Have a Chaw

A scientist of the San Diego, Calif. Natural History museum swears he saw two elephant seals chewing leaves of the "Indian tobacco" plant on the shores of Guadalupe Island.

The plant, which contains nicotine, is a common West Coast weed. The Office of Naval Research says: This is "probably the first recorded instance of an elephant seal chewing tobacco."

Starry-eyed

Within three years the United States plans to have an unmanned 3,200-pound telescope satellite so accurate it will be able to pin its glance on individual stars. That's roughly like sighting and watching a basketball 500 miles away.

The satellite will report back to earth by television and radio. Its telescopes, using 36-inch reflecting mirrors, will give man a clear picture of the universe from above the earth's distorting haze.

TV fo Tanks

An Army engineer says possibilities look good for using television to enable drivers of tanks and other tracked vehicles to drive in safety across battlefields hot with radiation from exploded nuclear weapons.

Lt. Gene Brown of Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., says preliminary tests using a television camera and receiver as the only means of visibility in a completely closed tank indicate the technique is feasible.

World of Plenty

Research may be moving man into a society of plenty where income may make little difference between individuals, a University of Michigan economist suggests.

We may be in the first stages of this "post-civilization" says Prof. Kenneth Boulding. But in the transition we face two dangers:

Population explosion—a world of 200 billion people in some 200 years would live in an endless world slum-city on a diet of yeast and algae, decimated by famine.

Nuclear annihilation—no nation, no matter how large can defend its heartland from destruction.

Milk Bottle Hurled At Would-Be Bandit

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Edith Bruns, 67, was in the family dairy Monday when a young bandit displayed a revolver and snarled, "Don't think I won't shoot."

Mrs. Bruns, a bottle of milk in each hand, replied, "Don't think I won't throw!"

She winged one bottle at him, barely missing his head.

The thug ran.

CAN PUSH EIGHT 100-CAR FREIGHT TRAINS—The world's most powerful river towboat is christened the "America" in St. Louis by Mrs. John J. Allen, wife of the undersecretary of commerce for transportation. The 9,000 hp giant is capable of pushing 40,000 tons of cargo in one tow. That is the equivalent of eight 100-car freight trains.

Ferguson Tractor Magnate Dies

LONDON (AP) — Harry Ferguson, tractor magnate, died today. He was 75.

Ferguson was inventor of a lightweight tractor which sold all over the world. He once fought a multimillion-dollar law suit with the Ford Motor Co. in the United States.

Ferguson charged the Ford firm with conspiring to destroy his company and infringing on his tractor patent.

The Irish-born inventor sued for $342 million. In an out-of-court settlement, he got $9,250,000.

Anti-Catholic Drive Held by Some Masons

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman for Scottish Rite Masonic lodges in 35 states has confirmed reports that some state leaders of the order are urging defeat of Sen. John F. Kennedy for president because he is a Roman Catholic.

Norman S. Meese, aide to Grand Commander Luther A. Smith of Mississippi, said the state leaders have independent authority to act as they wish in the election campaign between Democrat Kennedy and Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon, a Quaker.

Although it is a fundamental tenet of the Scottish Rite movement that members are forbidden to engage in political activity or discussion within their lodges, Meese said, their actions outside are not circumscribed.

Last September, George E. Bushnell, grand commander for the 15-state Norhern jurisdiction banned all political material from Scottish Rite publications and denied use of the fraternity's mailing lists for articles dealing with religion.

Bushnell said he issued the edict because of the outpouring of anti-Catholic and anti-Kennedy literature received in his Boston and Detroit offices.

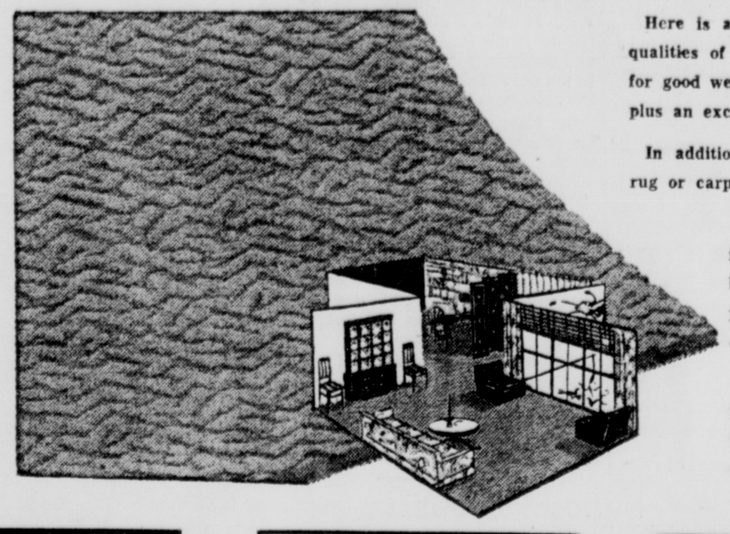

Time Magazine Expects Jack To Win New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Time Magazine says that Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, "stands to carry New York State by a margin ranging from 250,000 to 500,000 votes."

The Oct. 31 edition of the magazine said the conclusion was based on soundings by correspondent John L. Steele.

How U.S. Is Building Roads

Both Retreats, Defeats Seen in Highway Program

Editors Note—In a program involving acquisition of vast areas of land and the award of thousands of contracts, sour apples are likely to crop up. This second of four articles based on a five-month investigatio nof the federal highway program turns the spotlight on some of its darker corners.

AP Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sooner or later Congress will lift the lid on the nations greatest highway program in history, probably after the November election.

And theres no doubt that some phases of the $41-billion program could stand a thorough airing.

Generally, progress is being made on a broad front, and good roads are being built at reasonable cost. But there have been retreats and defeats in some sectors — occasionally spectacular ones.

Where difficulties exist, an on-the-spot investigation of several months indicates they often revolve around land acquisition and sometimes around contract awards and contract performance. There have been instances of complete road failures and, to use a highway engineers term, "distressed roads that need repair shortly after completion.

For weeks House investigators have had reports from West Virginia, Florida, and Massachusetts which point toward land speculation and fraud.

In West Virginia, certain contractors reportedly charged the state for road building materials that did not actually go into the roads.

The Florida report deals with conflict of interest cases and around Miami there are reports of speculation in land for rights-of-way.

In Indiana, site of the now well-known 1957 scandal, rumors still circulate of secret "deals among politicians, businessmen and contractors.

Any effort to check these hidden relationships leads ultimately to the Indiana Department of Securities, which keeps a record of major stockholders in Indiana firms. There the check ends. The departments records are secret.

A staff member of the House subcommittee on the federal aid program was asked why the Indiana rumors hadn't been investigated. "There have been so many and they are so complicated, he replied, "that we just haven't had the manpower to do it.

The original Indiana scandals resulted in the indictment of two top aides to former Gov. George Craig on charges of conspiring to bribe Virgil W. Smith, highway commission chairman, in connection with the purchase of highway equipment.

Smith began serving a prison sentence of 2 to 14 years last month after conviction on a charge of soliciting and accepting bribes. Three others connected wih this case and another involving charges of conspiracy to embezzle $28,000 in state funds to speculate in rights-of-way have been convicted but are free on appeal bonds.

There were also indictments against three Carpenters Union officials and Harry Doggett former state right-of-way official, for conspiring to sell land to the state at a $81,000 profit. Their trial now is under way after almost three years delay. One of the officials is Maurice Hutcheson, Carpenters Union president.

A state investigation of land purchases uncovered five property owners along Indianapolis' Madison Avenue Expressway who were paid $117,350 for land not needed for the road.

Land is still a problem in Indiana.

State Atty. Gen. Edwin K. Steers has over 500 land condemnation cases pending in court. Steers estimated in an interview that it costs Indiana $2,500 to try a land case, mostly because the state pays independent fee appraisers $50 to $150 a day each for a court appearance. The cases rarely last less than two days, and three appraisers usually have to testify.

Juries in Indiana have had an almost unbroken record of granting large awards since 1957.

One of the major planks in the platform of Gov. Harold W. Handley, Craig's successor, was creation of a sound highway program.

The GOP platform for the November gubernatorial contest between Republican Crawford F. Parker and Democrat Matthew E. Welsh doesn't mention highways.

Gov. Handley observed. "All that could have been said was that the program would be continued and expanded. Why emphasize the obvious?"

In the election campaign, one of Welsh's main talking points has been the need to move faster and more efficiently on highway construction.

Early in the campaign the Republicans dumped the present highway commission chairman, John Peters.

Peters sought nomination as state treasurer. Literally at the last minute Gov. Handley's aide, Robert E. Hughes, filed against Peters at Parker's behest and was nominated.

The latest Bureau of Public Roads report, listing figures as of June 30, 1960, credits Indiana with 12 miles of superhighways "completed to full or acceptable standards" and 1,439 miles of secondary, primary and urban roads built or improved.

The same report credits neighboing Illinois with 97 miles of superhighways and 3,307 miles of improvement or new construction in primary, secondary and urban roads.

Indiana's neighbor on the other side, Ohio, shows up in the report with 284 miles of superhighways and 1,341 miles of primary, secondary and urban road improvements or new construction.

Customarily there is a paperwork lag between the time a road is finished and appearance in the Bureau of Roads "completed" column. Parker has said during his campaign that Indiana will have finished 124 miles of superhighways by the end of this year. The federal figures, however, are the most authoritative available comparison of the three states as of four months ago.

Thursday: land, material and performance.

NEAR THE END—Co-defendants Dr. Bernard Finch and his redhaired paramour Carole Tregoff leave a court session near the end of their second trial in Los Angeles in the murder of his wife Barbara. The first resulted in a hung jury.

Dr. Harmon New Member Of Alpha Zeta

Dr. Tom D. Harmon, executive vice president of the Circleville First National Bank, recently was initiated into associate membership of Alpha Zeta Fraternity.

The initiation ceremony was conducted by Townshend Chapter of the fraternity at its chapter house near The Ohio State University campus. Associate membership may be conferred only upon present or past members of an institutional or experimental staff of an institution who have acquired a national reputation in their field.

Before his appointment, Dr. Harmon served in research and teaching in the Dairy Technology Department of the College of agriculture and Home Economics at Ohio State. He is highly respected by his former collegues and students for his contributions to the field of dairy technology and the industry of agriculture.

Dr. Harmon also is regarded by his students as an outstanding teacher. He served as a faculty member of Ohio Staters, Inc., an OSU men's service organization.

THE Fraternity of Alph a Zeta is a national professional honorary fraternity for agriculture, with 52 chapters and 2,750 members on campuses in 47 states and Puerto Rico.

The fraternity was founded at Ohio State on Nov. 4, 1897, by John Ferguson Cunningham and Charles William Burkett, both nationally known leaders in the field of agriculture.

Local Growers To Enter Show

Several sheep and beef growers from this area plan to enter animals in the Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition November 7-11 at Harrisburg, Pa.

Entering sheep competition is Donald Andregg of the Amanda area. Entering the beef classes are R. S. Hosler and G. W. Courtright, Amanda, who have a joint entry, C. B. Teegardin & Sons of Ashville and Larry Borror of Orient.

Borror also plans to enter the Junior Steer show for 4-H and FFA steers.

Entries this year are the largest ever in the sheep and swine shows at the exposition. The list includes 1,325 sheep and 1,192 swine. In addition, 732 head of beef cattle and steers will be exhibited.

Motorist Is Fined

Alice F. Haverstock, Route 2, Ashville, was fined $30 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of failure to have assured clear distance ahead.

She was arrested by city police. Attorney Kenneth Robbins sat on the Municipal bench in place of Judge Sterling M. Lamb who is ill.

Hands-Off-Gold Is Deliberate Policy of U.S.

American Treasury Pays Little Heed to Gambling in London

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)— Gold gamblers have been allowed to have their own way on the London free market.

The U.S. Treasury has kept hands off while speculators bid the price as high as $41 an ounce —$6 above the official U.S. price to which our dollar is pegged. The Bank of England has stood on the sidelines, too. So have other foreign central banks.

Any of these could have burst the gambling bubble by releasing a large supply of gold to London's free market, where the small amount available has let speculators force the price up by aggressive bidding.

The hands off policy is deliberate. The Treasury is said to feel that is in the best long-run interest of the United States.

The treasury doesn't like to see any assault on the confidence in the value of the U. S. dollar, but doesn't recognize any real peril at this time or any long term threat to confidence in the dollar.

Why doesn't the U. S. Treasury or the Bank of England or banks of other allies move to drop the fever chart quickly?

They could do so easily—and profitably.

Other nations have been piling up gold in the vaults of the New York Federal Reserve Bank. This could be transferred to London at a cost ranging from 10 to 20 cents an ounce, depending on the size of shipment.

With the free market price of gold ranging from $37 to $41 for several days, it would have been profitable for foreign banks to fly this gold to London—gold they bought for $35 from the U. S. Treasury, plus an 8¾ cent an ounce handling charge.

Such a flooding of London's free market would have broken the price.

Critics of the U. S. Treasury think this should have been done. The London Economist contends that foreign banks were discouraged from doing this by the U. S. Treasury. The weekly thinks the Treasury should reverse its stand and "positively encourage other central banks to undertake" this way of bringing "the London market back into line." The Economist argues that "the American authorities cannot ignore the psychological effect of the dollar premium on gold in London."

Supporters of the hands-off policy argue intervention would harm rather than cure. They hold that a direct move to burst the gold price bubble would show to the world how worried the U. S. Treasury is about the value of the dollar, and thus merely encourage those who are gambling that sooner or later the United States must devalue the dollar by raising the gold price.

Man's Arrest Is Linked to Abortion Ring

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The arrest of a Zanesville man there Tuesday may help crack and illegal abortion ring operating in several counties, says Franklin County Prosecutor Earl W. Allison.

Late Tuesday Franklin County deputies and police officials from Zanesville and Grandview, a Columbus suburb, arrested Milton S. Anderson, 61, on a charge of performing an illegal abortion.

Allison said the Franklin County grand jury returned a secret indictment against Anderson Monday. The abortion cited in the jury's action was performed Sept. 8 at an address on Hilo Lane in Grandview, he said.

Officials began working on the case when the subject of the abortion almost died in White Cross Hospital as a result of the operation.

Allison gave no other details on the "ring" operation but said that Anderson's apprehension may aid authorities in breaking up its activities.

Anderson was taken to the Franklin County jail. An arraignment date has not been set.

Cat-Scratch Fever

- Hard Beds
- Emotional Illness
- Menorrhagia

Q. A doctor recently told us that our youngster had "cat-scratch" fever. What in the world is that?

A. Cat-scratch fever is a relatively new disease, or at least has been recognized only during the last few years. Although the cat is looked upon as the carrier and a scratch the usual mode of transmission, the cause of the disease is a virus and not the cat. Typically, a person is scratched by a cat. Two to four weeks later a sore develops at the site of the scratch. Nearby glands swell and the victim develops a fever which lasts about 10 days. These and other symptoms gradually go away. Antibiotics are used in treatment of this disease but their value is questionable.

Q. Is a hard bed without a pillow best for small children?

A. Sleeping on a hard bed without a pillow is perfectly satisfactory for normal children. It is important that the bed not sag in the middle. If the child prefers, a single pillow may be used.

Q. What is the difference, if any, between mental and emotional illness?

A. Medically speaking, there is no difference. This distinction is most often made by non-professionals.

Q. I am 39 and have had a D and C. The diseases found were menorrhagia, uterine bleeding, and anemia. Is this always cancer? If so, does the D and C clear it up?

A. Let's clear up a few terms. Menorrhagia means excessive uterine bleeding. This condition (not a disease) produces anemia if blood loss is sufficiently severe. Menorrhagia may be a sign of late uterine cancer but the two are not directly related. D and C (dilatation and curettage) is frequently performed for menorrhagia but would be without value in management of uterine cancer.

Cool Cellar Is Place For Dahlias

Rhinesmith Says To Cut Tops Right after Frost

William Rhinesmith, Williamsport, had some excellent dahlia specimens at the Pumpkin Show.

When we learned that he was a member of the Scioto Valley Dahlia Society and had over 200 dahlias we told him we'd like to do a story for the garden page on his dahlias.

He said, "The story will be that the frost is going to catch 'em tonight." That was Wednesday and sure enough the frost did catch everybody's dahlias on Thursday night.

Rhinesmith who has only been growing dahlias three years says he had tough luck keeping his tubers over last winter and he blames it on the fact he did not top them soon enough after the first freeze and water from the stem rotted the crowns. He topped his plants Friday.

* * *

HE thinks it's wise to wrap dahlia tubers in paper, check them every few weeks and if they look dry and wrinkly sprinkle them with water.

He's won ribbons at the Scioto Valley Dahlia Society show at the Pickaway County Fair and the Pumpkin Show.

Incidentally, Rhinesmith says an unheated cellar with a dirt floor is the best of possible places to store dahlias. He himself does not have such a cellar.

Rhinesmith says dahlias will take more cold than Irish potatoes. He says dividing must be done in the spring and not at harvest time.

Botanical Head Identifies Curious Tree

George H. Pring, superintendent of the Missouri Botanical Garden of St. Louis, Mo., has identified Mrs. Thomas R. Smith's wedding bell tree as a specimen of Angel's Trumpet (Datura Suaveolens) a native of Central America.

According to Pring, there are plants of this species in the new climatron at the Missouri Botanical Garden.

We sent a picture of this exotic and lovely little tree to the botanical garden for identification.

According to the New Illustrated Encyclopedia of ,Gardening this woody plant may be cultivated in a greenhouse with a minimum winter temperature of 45 degrees. Or when wintered indoors as Mrs. Smith does, the plant may be placed outdoors in the summer.

* * *

WATERING once a week with liquid manure is recommended during the summer. Almost no water is required during the winter, Datura Suaveolens is the largest type of datura and will reach a height of 12 feet.

One way of propagating the wedding bell tree is to plant cuttings of young shoots in spring. Place a bell jar over them until rooted.

The Geo. W. Park Seed Co. of Greenwood S. C., lists seeds of this species of datura. They recommend tub culture.

People who had the chance of seeing Mrs. Smith's tree in full bloom will know that here's a tender shrub well worth the trouble it takes.

Garden Gossip

About the funniest thing that happened at Pumpkin Show was the uninhibited dame who paid a visit to the flower show, proclaimed the judges had not done a good job and set to work changing ribbons on all the exhibits.

The hostesses were flabbergasted but let the self - proclaimed judge have her fun. Then when she left the ribbons were quietly replaced.

More people this year felt a sudden urge to display flowers and vegetables without ever having seen a schedule! Such spontaneous decisions are what make Pumpkin Show fun.

But exhibitors would have lots more chance winning ribbons if they had studied their schedules and read the rules beforehand.

Mrs. Richard Ballard, Tarlton, won a blue ribbon on her red sweet peppers. They were a spur-of-the-moment exhibit. She also took some green peppers, two of which were pointed and three of which were rounded at the end. She sort of wanted to display a variety of shapes. But now she knows that uniformity counts over size.

GEE WHIZZ! The competition at the flower show was the tough est it has been in the history of Pumpkin Show. Every class Wednesday was filled with clever, beautiful and well - designed arrangements. I took a good look and all hope was gone.

Each year we exhibit with high hopes. When we start out to make arrangements for the show we feel it's all in the spirit of a big lark. But by the time we've dragged the entries into town and registered them we're in a state of depression to say nothing of fatigue.

All this is forgotten, of course, when the judges come along and award a ribbon or two to our best efforts. But by Gollie! It's depressing to the spirits not to have any ribbons at all.

This has happened more than once in my flower arranging lifetime but when Pumpkin Show rolls around we are back into the fray our hopes high again.

Each year since the best of show trophy has been inaugurated we've confided to Vangie Campbell that we'd like to win the trophy.

But Friday when the entries closed we left the show with a heavy heart.

And when my entry got best-of-show the flower exhibit officials were going to call me at the hospital where I was visiting Margaret Shea. They were going to tell Margaret to move over because I was going to get the surprise of my life.

Every year at flower show time Myrtie Noggle calls me to say that I may have roses if I need them and anything else from their garden that I want.

And each year I end up with a supply of most beautiful flowers. And sad to relate even with the most beautiful of flowers I have not cut much of a whig ding.

And my winning arrangement had lovely yellow roses from the Noggle's garden. I feel like they should have the trophy six months of the year at least.

WE HEARD that Ned Harden advised Sally one year to try to get into the spirit of Pumpkin Show by entering some arrangements in the flower show.

Sally took him seriously and now she's up half the night making arrangements. She does excellent work and came off with a couple of ribbons, one in the beautiful and enormous class "A Hunting We Will Go".

Another husband to rue his words is Emmitt Barnhart, who, we understand, told his wife to get rid of her chrysanthemums because he was seeding the whole back yard down in grass.

Now Miriam Barnhart, long a mum fancier, was not about to give up chrysanthemum raising. Her chrysanthemums the fancy kind that have to be staked and shaded with black cloth, are to be found in the front of the house where the Barnharts formerly had an excellent foundation planting of evergreens.

William Rhinesmith, Williamsport dahlia fancier, says the biggest dahlia he ever grew was an Arthur Godfrey. His dahlias took a beating, too in early September. Even though he watered them the flowers were blasted by the heat. They got a new lease on life for the Pumpkin Show.

For the first time, unless I am mistaken, exhibitors used background material for their arrangements. This practice is going to be a pain in the neck as more and more exhibitors take advantage of colorful backgrounds. I'll admit it shows off an arrangement to the best advantage. But I feel backgrounds should be for niches and not the general run of entries.

Loring Hill used violet beauty berry in one of his entries. This is the most beautiful line material. Tiny violet berries form a graceful spike as they grow along the stem.

Pauline Schiff has not entered the flower show for several years. Formerly a consistent blue ribbon winner she made an almost dramatic reappearance Wednesday and took, I believe, six blue ribbons.

And speaking of arrangers who have seemingly retired from the field, Mrs. Don Miller has not exhibited for several years. We heard that she was still interested and when her youngsters get off to college she'll be in the running again. Mrs. Miller was a trophy winner three times at least.

BILL Goodchild of Beverly Road is a rose fancier who likes to test new roses and does so for different companies. He has about 50 roses.

One of his test roses is apparently the same rose that Harry O'Brien spoke of as a sure-to-be All-American winner. Bil Goodchild also remarked on its glowing color. He calls it a fluroescent color and says that in a whole garden of roses your eye will travel immediately to this new rose.

We were so interested in talking roses to the Goodchilds that we missed the rare experience of seeing our daughter - in - law dressed as a hill - billy leading a goat in the parade.

Bill Goodchild's geraniums in the back are so big and beautiful that they have surprised him. He has given them about the same care he always gives his geraniums except that in this case he did lime the soil as well as water and feed the plants.

Mrs. J. O. Eagleson, N. Pickaway St., potted up small plants of bocconia cordata for the plant sale of Pickaway Garden Club. The bocconia went like hot cakes.

One of the most appealing things in the sesquicentennial edition of The Herald was the letter written back to Ohio from a woman visiting in Virginia. "Tell Nancy not to let my plants freeze", she wrote.

Vangie Campbell cut such a figure on the platform when she was awarding the flower show trophies that she had a bid to do some professional emceeing.

New Balance Not Always Understood

When you go to a flower show be on the lookout for entries that dramatic line generally.

When you see an arrangment with a bold sweep of line material shooting off at an angle and no corresponding line to balance it this arrangment will probably be a balance-in-flight deal.

Give this arrangement another look and you will discover that the bold dramatic line is balanced perfectly with heavy material close to the container.

Polly Measamer's best - of - show Wednesday was an example of balance-in-flight. If you remember, it was in the apple cider class and the container was a jug with a woven cover. There was a bold sweep of Scotch broom and balancing that was a big cluster of small apples near the container.

* * *

TOO frequently judges do not understand a balance-in-flight arrangment. The wild sweep that represents flight is a trifle too bold and modern.

It speaks well for Wednesday's judges that they picked this seldom understood balance-in-flight arrangement with its modern feeling.

Ingram Does Not Wait for Frost For Digging Glads

Ed Ingram, Stringtown, harvested his glad corms a month or more ago.

Ingram planted his 3000 glads early this year so when the foliage yellowed he dug his corms and dried them ready for storage.

Many people wait until a killing frost has stopped all growth of glads. Then they dig the corms, place them indoors for drying and in a week or two cut the stems about an inch from the corm.

The comlets at the base of the big corm should be saved and stored separately. If planted in flats next spring they will be ready to bloom the following year.

The storage place should be frost free, cool and dry.

Finish Chores Before November

Pickaway County gardeners who have been coasting until after Pumpkin Show had better get rolling right away.

Dig your dahlias and gladiolas, plant your spring bulbs, hill your roses and have mulch ready for general use once a hard freeze has hardened the ground.

Mulching is done to prevent the heaving and thawing that eventually work plants out of the ground.

Your gardening days are numbered in November. This is the time to do everything you want to do which includes sowing annual seeds like larkspur, poppies and corn flowers for early summer bloom.

Mrs. Wolfe Noted for Time Spent in Growing Dahlias

Mrs. Randolf Wolfe, Route 4, Circleville, inherited a taste for growing dahlias from her Aunt Mary Manahan. She also inherited many of her aunt's dahlia tubers when her aunt died last year.

At any rate Mrs. Wolfe has been growing dahlias for a good many years and growing them most successfully. Mrs. Wolfe who lives on a farm has a great many other chores beside growing dahlias so she does not give them as much care as she feels they need.

Nevertheless, one has only to pass the Wolfe home to know that a most successful dahlia fancier lives therein.

According to Mrs. Wolfe, storing dahlias is no trick. She takes a corn knife and whacks the stems off after the first big frost. She likes to have the men dig the tubers within a week after she has cut off the stems.

* * *

SHE has the men shake off some of the dirt. The dahlias are placed in a box or basket labeled and stored in an unheated portion of her cellar.

Yes, some tubers winter over easily and others (often the best ones) don't make it. Mrs. Wolfe has learned this, however. She places the delicate small tubers right in with the big old tubers that she knows will live over. The small tubers seem to keep better this way. Mrs. Wolfe believes they get more moisture.

Labeling is important. Tubers are labeled before they go into the baskets. Mrs. Wolfe just writes the name on a wooden label which is wired to the stem of the tuber or writes the name on paper, inserts the paper into a small bottle and wires it on the tuber stem.

We asked Mrs. Wolfe why she thought cutting frosted tops off right away was necessary and she said water from the plant stems seemed to rot the tubers if this was not done immediately.

So get your corn knife out and start slashing.

Man Is Held In Holdup Of 2 Gls

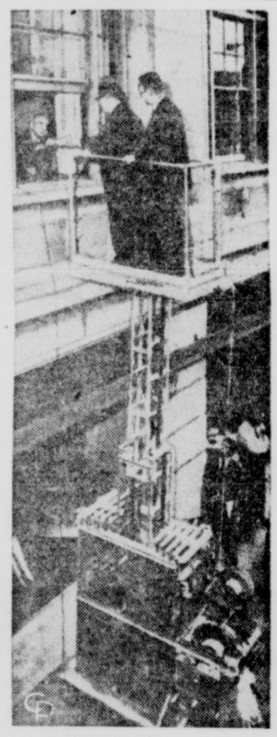

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—One of two men accused of robbing a pair of hitchhiking servicemen last weekend and stealing a station wagon in Marietta, was taken into custody in Parkersburg, W. Va., Tuesday.

Police identified the man as Robert Lloyd, 28, of Parkersburg.

Authorities said the Athens County sheriff may have to start extradition proceedings if Lloyd is to be returned here on charges of taking part in robbing the servicemen.

A second man hunted in the case, Geoge Lee Hosey, 35, of near Sharpsburg in Athens County, escaped from the Junction City Honor Camp in Perry County last July 2. He was serving 1-15 years for burglary. Officers are continuing the search.

Army privates Lary Remmele and Dave Pooler, both of near Marietta, had been picked up by the pair and later robbed, authorities said.

Johnson-Kennedy Clashes Recalled

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Republicans said today that John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson disagreed, on the average, on one out of every four or five votes during their years together in Congess.

Altogether, said the Republican National Committee's research division, the two Democratic candidates clashed on 264 roll calls in the 10 years they served together in the House and Senate.

In a breakdown of the voting records, the committee said they disagreed mostly on farm policy, taxes and civil rights.

"Foreign aid, foreign policy, and defense have also come in for a large share of disagreement. So have labor issues, public works, housing and tidelands oil," the release said.

Envoy's Wife-Movie Star Is Enjoying Her Double Life

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—It's a rare movie star who will let a reporter see her with hair flattened in pin-curls, wearing no makeup.

It's probably an even rarer foreign minister's wife who will receive in a pink quilt robe.

Helle Krag, who is both, had no compunction the other morning. It was 9:30 a.m. and she had been up late at social functions for the king and queen of Denmark, who were winding up their U.S. visit.

It seemed logical enough for the pretty blonde to curl up in an easy chair, bare feet tucked under her, to discuss her acting career; he husband, Otto Jens Kag, Denmark's foreign minister; and what they had been doing during his three-week stit as head of the Danish delegation to the United Nations' General Assembly.

Mrs. Krag, as Helle Virkner, is a famous stage and screen star in Denmark. She has been an actress for 16 years, but is still in her twenties. None of her 26 movies has been brought to this country.

"They're just shown in Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Germany," she said in excellent English.

Her husband approves of her career, she said, and she likes to keep working "a little."

"You never know what will happen in your life," and it's good to have some sort of work."

She met Krag—who is 11 years her senior—at a party for Indonesia's President Sukarno. "It was May 16, 1959," she recalled. "He introduced himself and we talked two minutes. We met again July 3, and were married July 31. I had seen him fewer than 10 times, but I knew he was the right man.

"We have a baby boy named Jens Christian. He is 3 months and 14 days old, and I miss him terribly."

At home, she said, she tries to help her husband in his political career by giving parties.

"In Denmark, wives don't get out and campaign for their husbands as women do here," she said.

1932 Mystery Studied Anew

California Prosecutor To Reopen Old Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After 28 years, the district attorney's office is again investigating the death of writer - producer Paul Bern, husband of the late Jean Harlow.

Bern's death in 1932 was listed officialy as suicide. Miss Harlow died five years later, at 26, of uremic poisoning.

Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson said Monday a fresh inquiry is being made because writer Ben Hecht said in a recent magazine article that a suicide note reputedly left by the 42-year-old Bern was a forgery. Hecht charged that Bern was murdered by another woman, whom he did not name.

Hecht's article said films studio officials decided it was better that the public believe Bern killed himself than to let it be known that Miss Harlow could not keep her husband.

Bern and the actress were married July 2, 1932. Two months later Bern was found shot to death just outside the door of his bedroom in their Benedict Canyon home.

"When a writer of Ben Hecht's stature puts in public print without qualification that a murder has been committed, it is up to the district attorney's office to investigate the case, no matter how long ago it occurred," McKesson said.

At the time of Bern's death, Miss Harlow could give police no motive for suicide. The next day she tried to throw herself off a balcony, officers reported.

It was then discovered, police said, that Bern had for 10 years supported a woman whose maiden name was Dorothy Millette. A few days after Bern's death her body was found in a slough of the Sacramento River, officers said.

Dig your dahlias and gladiolas, plant your spring bulbs, hill your roses and have mulch ready for general use once a hard freeze has hardened the ground.

Mulching is done to prevent the heaving and thawing that eventually work plants out of the ground.

Your gardening days are numbered in November. This is the time to do everything you want to do which includes sowing annual seeds like larkspur, poppies and corn flowers for early summer bloom.

Owners of Newspaper Divided on Politics

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—Alicia Patterson, editor and publisher of Newsday, today endorsed Sen. John F. Kennedy for president.

At the same time, her husband, Harry F. Gugenheim, the newspaper's president and co-owner, announced his personal endorsement of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The paper, which lists itself as independent, supported Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952 and Adlai E. Stevenson in 1956.

Mrs. Wolfe Noted for Time Spent in Growing Dahlias

Mrs. Randolf Wolfe, Route 4, Circleville, inherited a taste for growing dahlias from her Aunt Mary Manahan. She also inherited many of her aunt's dahlia tubers when her aunt died last year.

At any rate Mrs. Wolfe has been growing dahlias for a good many years and growing them most successfully. Mrs. Wolfe who lives on a farm has a great many other chores beside growing dahlias so she does not give them as much care as she feels they need.

Nevertheless, one has only to pass the Wolfe home to know that a most successful dahlia fancier lives therein.

According to Mrs. Wolfe, storing dahlias is no trick. She takes a corn knife and whacks the stems off after the first big frost. She likes to have the men dig the tubers within a week after she has cut off the stems.

* * *

SHE has the men shake off some of the dirt. The dahlias are placed in a box or basket labeled and stored in an unheated portion of her cellar.

Yes, some tubers winter over easily and others (often the best ones) don't make it. Mrs. Wolfe has learned this, however. She places the delicate small tubers right in with the big old tubers that she knows will live over. The small tubers seem to keep better this way. Mrs. Wolfe believes they get more moisture.

Labeling is important. Tubers are labeled before they go into the baskets. Mrs. Wolfe just writes the name on a wooden label which is wired to the stem of the tuber or writes the name on paper, inserts the paper into a small bottle and wires it on the tuber stem.

We asked Mrs. Wolfe why she thought cutting frosted tops off right away was necessary and she said water from the plant stems seemed to rot the tubers if this was not done immediately.

So get your corn knife out and start slashing.

Man Is Held In Holdup Of 2 Gls

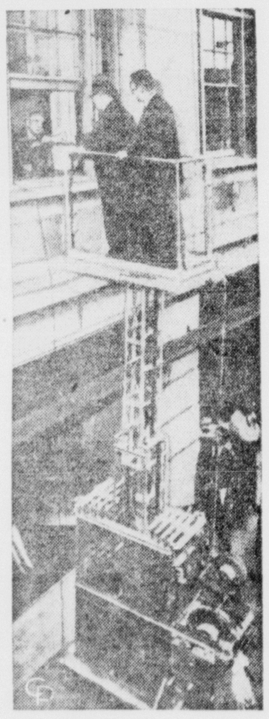

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—One of two men accused of robbing a pair of hitchhiking servicemen last weekend and stealing a station wagon in Marietta, was taken into custody in Parkersburg, W. Va., Tuesday.

Police identified the man as Robert Lloyd, 28, of Parkersburg.

Authorities said the Athens County sheriff may have to start extradition proceedings if Lloyd is to be returned here on charges of taking part in robbing the servicemen.

A second man hunted in the case, Geoge Lee Hosey, 35, of near Sharpsburg in Athens County, escaped from the Junction City Honor Camp in Perry County last July 2. He was serving 1-15 years for burglary. Officers are continuing the search.

Army privates Lary Remmele and Dave Pooler, both of near Marietta, had been picked up by the pair and later robbed, authorities said.

Johnson-Kennedy Clashes Recalled

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Republicans said today that John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson disagreed, on the average, on one out of every four or five votes during their years together in Congess.

Altogether, said the Republican National Committee's research division, the two Democratic candidates clashed on 264 roll calls in the 10 years they served together in the House and Senate.

In a breakdown of the voting records, the committee said they disagreed mostly on farm policy, taxes and civil rights.

"Foreign aid, foreign policy, and defense have also come in for a large share of disagreement. So have labor issues, public works, housing and tidelands oil," the release said.

Guided tours of the building and grounds will follow a program in the gymnasium. The public is invited to attend the event.

Envoy's Wife-Movie Star Is Enjoying Her Double Life

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—It's a rare movie star who will let a reporter see her with hair flattened in pincurls, wearing no makeup.

It's probably an even rarer foreign minister's wife who will receive in a pink quilt robe.

Helle Krag, who is both, had no compunction the other morning. It was 9:30 a.m. and she had been up late at social functions for the king and queen of Denmark, who were winding up their U.S. visit.

It seemed logical enough for the pretty blonde to curl up in an easy chair, bare feet tucked under her, to discuss her acting career; he husband, Otto Jens Krag, Denmark's foreign minister; and what they had been doing during his three-week stit as head of the Danish delegation to the United Nations' General Assembly.

Mrs. Krag, as Helle Virkner, is a famous stage and screen star in Denmark. She has been an actress for 16 years, but is still in her twenties. None of her 26 movies has been brought to this country.

"They're just shown in Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Germany," she said in excellent English.

Her husband approves of her career, she said, and she likes to keep working "a little."

"You never know what will happen in your life," and it's good to have some sort of work."

She met Krag—who is 11 years her senior—at a party for Indonesia's President Sukarno. "It was May 16, 1959," she recalled. "He introduced himself and we talked two minutes. We met again July 3, and were married July 31. I had seen him fewer than 10 times, but I knew he was the right man.

"We have a baby boy named Jens Christian. He is 3 months and 14 days old, and I miss him terribly."

At home, she said, she tries to help her husband in his political career by giving parties.

"In Denmark, wives don't get out and campaign for their husbands as women do here," she said.

An estimated one million Chinese built the 715-mile Burma Road in a year, using hammers and hoes and carrying gravel surfacing in wicker baskets.

1932 Mystery Studied Anew

California Prosecutor To Reopen Old Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After 28 years, the district attorney's office is again investigating the death of writer-producer Paul Bern, husband of the late Jean Harlow.

Bern's death in 1932 was listed officialy as suicide. Miss Harlow died five years later, at 26, of uremic poisoning.

Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson said Monday a fresh inquiry is being made because writer Ben Hecht said in a recent magazine article that a suicide note reputedly left by the 42-year-old Bern was a forgery. Hecht charged that Bern was murdered by another woman, whom he did not name.

Hecht's article said films studio officials decided it was better that the public believe Bern killed himself than to let it be known that Miss Harlow could not keep her husband.

Bern and the actress were married July 2, 1932. Two months later Bern was found shot to death just outside the door of his bedroom in their Benedict Canyon home.

"When a writer of Ben Hecht's stature puts in public print without qualification that a murder has been committed, it is up to the district attorney's office to investigate the case, no matter how long ago it occurred," McKesson said.

At the time of Bern's death, Miss Harlow could give police no motive for suicide. The next day she tried to throw herself off a balcony, officers reported.

It was then discovered, police said, that Bern had for 10 years supported a woman whose maiden name was Dorothy Millette. A few days after Bern's death her body was found in a slough of the Sacramento River, officers said.

NBA Removes Moore's Crown

Failure To Defend lightheavy Title Cited

CLEVELAND (AP) — The National Boxing Association has stretched a long arm across the Atlantic to snatch its lightheavyweight crown from the balding brow of Archie Moore who won it in 1952.

Moore failed to meet a 30-day time limit the NBA set Sept. 6 to complete arrangements for defense of his title against Eric Schoeppner of Germany, David Ott, NBA president, said.

Moore, who lists his age at 43 but whose mother lists it at 47, now is in Rome preparing to fight a nontitle 10-rounder Saturday night against Giulio Rinaldi of Italy.

Archie has defended his title eight times, the last time scoring a third-round knockout of Yvon Durelle of Canada on Aug. 12, 1959.

This is the second time this year the NBA has stripped Moore of championship recognition for failing to meet Schoeppner. Now, the NBA said, elimination matches will be held to find a new lightheavyweight titleholder. Schoeppner rates behind Harold Johnson of Philadelphia and Chick Calderwood of Scotland on the NBA's list of contenders.

The NBA took back Moore's 175-pound division crown Feb. 15, but restored it three weeks later when arrangements were completed for a Moore-Schoeppne title bout in Toronto. Those plans fell through when, after a time extension to enable Archie to make the weight limit, a deal on television fizzled.

Tigers Eye Grid Upset At Springfield

Circleville's grid squad will focus its attention this week on the battle Friday at Springfield North.

The Springfield team remains undefeated in its first year of football. The Tigers are determined to shoot for an upset.

The North team came into existence recently as the result of a division of old Springfield High School. The other school there now is known as Springfield South.

A main practice objective for the Tigers this week will be an effort to find a means of cutting down on offensive mistakes such as the three fumbles which were crippling Friday at Greenfield.

* * *

THE Tigers appear to be in good physical condition and should be up for the game Friday night.

The game will be played at Springfield's Evans Stadium which is on Clifton Ave. in the south end of the city. A recommended route is to take Route 56 to Route 40, turn left on Route 40 and travel on to the middle of Springfield. At the middle of the city turn left and head south for about 10 blocks to Clifton Ave. and turn right. The stadium is at the rear of Hayward Junior High School.

Tickets for the game are on sale at Circleville High School this week. Half the money from tickets sold here will remain at CHS. Springfield will retain all money from sales at the gate.

Halimi Seeks Match with U.S. Winner

LONDON (AP) — Alphonse Halimi, the newly crowned bantamweight champion of half the world, said today he's out to make himself the undisputed champion of the whole world—by taking on the winner of a Nov. 17 fight in Los Angeles.

Halimi won the European version of the world title by grabbing a controversial 15-round decision over British and European champion Freddie Gilroy Tuesday night.

The American National Boxing Commission did not recognize the fight as a world championship and said the one between Eder Jofre of Brazil and Eloy Sanchez, Mexico in Los Angeles Nov. 17 would be for the world title.

The confusion over the world title arose by the retirement of Mexican Jose Becerra.

Belgian referee Philippe de Backer gave Halimi, the 28-year-old French-Algerian, the verdict over Gilroy, despite the views of most ringside observers that the 24-year-old Irishman had done enough to win.

The Associated Press card gave seven rounds to Gilroy, five to Halimi, with the remainder even.

Halimi, world bantamweight champion between April 1957, and July 1959, scored the only real knockout of the fight. In the 13th round he landed a short right hook that floored Gilroy. The count reached four, then the bell saved the Irishman.

Halimi weighed 117½, Gilroy 116.

3 Ohio College Teams Await Michigan Foes

DETROIT (AP) — Ohio invades Michigan for three football games this weekend, and teams from the Buckeye State are favored to capture three victories.

Michigan State's Duffy Daughtery told the state football writers Tuesday that his Spartans will need their best effort of the season to stay even with Ohio State Saturday at East Lansing.

Ohio University is heavily favored to tople Western Michigan, and Western Reserve is a touchdown choice over Wayne Statep.

Wilbur Snypp, the Ohio State publicist, told the football writers' association: "Michigan State is the only team with an edge over Woody Hayes in his 10 seasons as coach at Ohio State, and he's anxious to even the score."

The Spartans have won two of three games since Hayes took over, but this is the first time an Ohio State football team has visited the Michigan State campus.

Ohio University, Ohio State's "little brother" school some 75 miles to the south, invades Kalamazoo in a Mid-American Conference clash against Western Michigan. The Ohio U. one-two punch is Bob Brooks and Bob Harrison, and both are among the top ball carriers in the nation.

Western Reserve of Ohio has walloped three Presidents' Conference foes, but Wayne State of Michigan has a chance to throw the league race into a four-way tie for first place.

Tiny Tigers, Thomas Ewing Battle to 0-0 Grid Deadlock

Most of the battle was fought between the two 30 yard lines.

Lancaster had the first scoring chance in the first half after recovering a Circleville fumble on the locals' 36. However, the Tiny Tigers dug in to hold their ground.

Circleville's first opportunity came in the second quarter when Don Fausnaugh intercepted a Ewing jump pass and rambled to the enemy 41. John Magill then completed a pass to Howard Dade to the enemy 25, but the drive stalled at this point.

* * *

A FIRED up Ewing crew drove to Circleville's 15 in the third quarter, but again the Little Tigers served notice they weren't giving away any real estate. In four more plays the hosts lost five yards back to the 20 as the locals put a stop to the threat.

With only minutes left in the fourth quarter, Ewing fashioned another break by intercepting a Circleville pass on Circleville's 39.

Tiger end John Thomas quickly halted this threat by stealing the ball from a Lancaster back and traveling to the enemy 46 before he was stopped.

Pressed by the clock, the Little Bengals rifled through the line and around end to Ewing's 23 as the final gun sounded.

The knotted verdict gives the Tiny Tigers a record of three wins and one tie with two games with Frankfort to go. Two weeks ago the locals cracked the Ewing outfit 18-6 in a hard-fought battle on the CHS field.

Coaches Paul Sarchet and Ralph Starkey said they were disappointed with their teams showing. They said tackling was off stride and that the offense did not click as it has in previous games.

EWING presented a formidable opponent in size and speed and especially in the running and defensive play of Fullback Eddie Effinger.

Callihan Cracks Pins for 614 Mark

Some sizzling scores were marked on the board in Early Monday Nite league bowling at Circle D Recreation this week.

Showing the way was Bob Callihan of General Electric with a 614 series on games of 237-180-197. Other bowlers going well over the 500 mark were Marion Good 577, Mike Brown 573, Bob Moon 572, Dallas Elliott 562, Don Flierl 557, Pete Noble and Don Valentine, 539, Bill Sibbick 552 and Gene Muering 534.

Callihan's 237 was high individual single game, but he was followed closely by Elliott's 233. On down the line it was Muering with a 228 Bill Eddy 225, Good 222, Sibbick 215, Don McDill 213, Moon 203, Valentine 202 and 200 and Brown and Jack Melvin 201.

Ruth Elliott High In Tuesday Loop

Ruth Elliott's 242 and 589, handicap included, were high single and series scores in Ladies' Tuesday Night bowling at Circle D.

Other high singles with handicap included Lydia DeLong's 214 and a 210 by Betty Boldoser, Zora Weiler finished with a 583 series and June McAfee a 580.

High team single games included a 982 by Brown's Insurance and a 967 by Gracille's Carousel of Beauty.

Ward's Market earned team high for three games with 2,652 pins. Gracille's was next on the list with 2,600.

Boosters Plan Grid Banquet

The Circleville Booster Club voted last night to hold a football banquet here instead of a proposed all-sports banquet.

The fete will be in the form of a carry - in. The date will be either November 19 or December 3. An effort will be made to obtain the CHS social rooms for the event.

Members agreed that directors and coaches will provide the meat dishes, with players' parents furnishing other food. The Booster club will arrange for bread, butter and refreshments.

A speaker for the banquet will be obtained by the coaching staff. A special highlight of the fete will be the awarding of a "Most Valuable Player" trophy and belt buckles for other individual accomplishments.

* * *

THE Booster Club also voted this week to furnish a commercial bus for the football team's trip to Springfield North Friday.

President Ralph Starkey announced that coffee and hot chocolate will be sold again at the next home game, scheduled November 4 with Franklin Heights.

AL Chiefs Expected To Tap Los Angeles for New Team

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Baseball League today was expected to stake its claimin Los Angeles at a meeting designed to expand the circuit to 10 clubs in time for the 1962 season.

Los Angeles, together with Dallas-Fort Worth and Minneapolis-St. Paul, are regarded as the only cities among a dozen applicants being considered seriously for the ninth and 10th franchises.

The National League nine days ago beat its junior rival to the gun by grabbing Houston and New York in the first expansion move in the majors in 62 years. The American League voted last month to expand to 10 teams, too.

While the NL had a comparatively easy time coming to unanimous agreement, the American was expected to be engaged in a long, drawn-out debate regarding Los Angeles. It was highly possible no decision would be reached at his meeting, which may be held over for a second day.

The AL clubowners first must solve internal problems concerning possible realignment before they can tackle the expansion movement. They are pretty much in agreement regarding Los Angeles.

The rub, however, is in the manner of acquisition. One group, headed by Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox, wants the league to grant an open franchise to LA, along with Dallas-Fort Worth.

Another faction, headed by Dan Topping of the New York Yankees, would like to see the Kansas City franchise moved to Los Angeles, thus opening the way for the league to approve franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas-Fort Worth.

Hank Greenberg, vice-president of the White Sox, reportedly has been supporting a move on the part of owner Calvin Griffith to shift his Washington Senators to Minneapolis-St. Paul. Greenberg is anxious to take over the Washington franchise.

It takes a three - fourths vote to approve a franchise shift or the granting of a new franchise.

Browns' Captain Expects Stiff Test

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mike McCormack, mainstay of the Cleveland Browns for seven seasons at offensive tackle and in his fourth year as captain, thinks Sunday's game in Washington will be the true test for this year's young team.

"Browns teams 'I've been on in the past bounced right back" after being down from loss of a tough game such as the 31-29 defeat here last Sunday by Philadelphia, McCormack said.

"We know we have eight games left to make up for that one," McCormack continued. "We can start against the Redskins."

The Browns will be favored by 10 points over Washington, and a victory would assure them of pulling even with the Philadelphia Eagles, who will be idle. The Eagles, now second in the Eastern Conference, and the New York Giants conference leaders and defending titlists, still have to bump into one another for two games.

Coach Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns weighed only 130 pounds when he played quarterback for Massilon, Ohio, High.

Rigney Tipped New Manager for Detroit

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Rigney, who was fired as manager of the San Francisco Giants last June, may be installed as pilot of the Detroit Tigers within a month.

The Associated Press learned Tuesday that Rigney, who led the Giants to two straight third place finishes before he was let go, applied for the vacant Detroit job during the World Series.

The Tigers have been without a manager since early this month when Joe Gordon resigned.

Navy Star Tagged As Back of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Bellino, Navy's dazzling halfback who set a modern scoring record for a Middie football player when he tallied two touchdowns against Pennsylvania, edged out New Mexico State halfback Bob Gaiters today as the Associated Press back of the week.

Gaiters and Bellino are the two leading major college scorers, the New Mexico star leading with 92 points on 15 touchdowns and two conversions.

Bellino led unbeaten Navy to its sixth straight victory, a 27-0 decision over Penn.

In scoring twice, one a 26-yard romp, the 187-pound Belino from Winchester, Mass., boosted his season TD total to 11. This, with a 2-point conversion, gives him 68 points, eight better than the 1934 Navy record of Buzz Borries.

Walter Blum, with 61 winners, took jockey honors during Monmouth Park's 1960 meeting of 50 days.

NBA Removes Moore's Crown

Failure To Defend lightheavy Title Cited

CLEVELAND (AP) — The National Boxing Association has stretched a long arm across the Atlantic to snatch its lightheavyweight crown from the balding brow of Archie Moore who won it in 1952.

Moore failed to meet a 30-day time limit the NBA set Sept. 6 to complete arrangements for defense of his title against Eric Schoeppner of Germany, David Ott, NBA president, said.

Moore, who lists his age at 43 but whose mother lists it at 47, now is in Rome preparing to fight a nontitle 10-rounder Saturday night against Giulio Rinaldi of Italy.

Archie has defended his title eight times, the last time scoring a third-round knockout of Yvon Durelle of Canada on Aug. 12, 1959.

This is the second time this year the NBA has stripped Moore of championship recognition for failing to meet Schoeppner. Now, the NBA said, elimination matches will be held to find a new lightheavyweight titleholder. Schoeppner rates behind Harold Johnson of Philadelphia and Chick Calderwood of Scotland on the NBA's list of contenders.

The NBA took back Moore's 175-pound division crown Feb. 15, but restored it three weeks later when arrangements were completed for a Moore-Schoeppne title bout in Toronto. Those plans fell through when, after a time extension to enable Archie to make the weight limit, a deal on television fizzled.

SPARTAN SPIRIT — Coach Duffy Daugherty of the Michigan State Spartans munches on an apple after a recent victory. Duffy probably is pondering the Big Ten race in which the Spartans figure prominently.

Tigers Eye Grid Upset At Springfield

Circleville's grid squad will focus its attention this week on the battle Friday at Springfield North.

The Springfield team remains undefeated in its first year of football. The Tigers are determined to shoot for an upset.

The North team came into existence recently as the result of a division of old Springfield High School. The other school there now is known as Springfield South.

A main practice objective for the Tigers this week will be an effort to find a means of cutting down on offensive mistakes such as the three fumbles which were crippling Friday at Greenfield.

* * *

THE Tigers appear to be in good physical condition and should be up for the game Friday night.

The game will be played at Springfield's Evans Stadium which is on Clifton Ave. in the south end of the city. A recommended route is to take Route 56 to Route 40, turn left on Route 40 and travel on to the middle of Springfield. At the middle of the city turn left and head south for about 10 blocks to Clifton Ave. and turn right. The stadium is at the rear of Hayward Junior High School.

Tickets for the game are on sale at Circleville High School this week. Half the money from tickets sold here will remain at CHS. Springfield will retain all money from sales at the gate.

Halimi Seeks Match with U.S. Winner

LONDON (AP) — Alphonse Halimi, the newly crowned bantamweight champion of half the world, said today he's out to make himself the undisputed champion of the whole world—by taking on the winner of a Nov. 17 fight in Los Angeles.

Halimi won the European version of the world title by grabbing a controversial 15-round decision over British and European champion Freddie Gilroy Tuesday night.

The American National Boxing Commission did not recognize the fight as a world championship and said the one between Eder Jofre of Brazil and Eloy Sanchez, Mexico in Los Angeles Nov. 17 would be for the world title.

The confusion over the world title arose by the retirement of Mexican Jose Becerra.

Belgian referee Philippe de Backer gave Halimi, the 28-year-old French-Algerian, the verdict over Gilroy, despite the views of most ringside observers that the 24-year-old Irishman had done enough to win.

The Associated Press card gave seven rounds to Gilroy, five to Halimi, with the remainder even.

Halimi, world bantamweight champion between April 1957, and July 1959, scored the only real knockout of the fight. In the 13th round he landed a short right hook that floored Gilroy. The count reached four, then the bell saved the Irishman.

Halimi weighed 117½, Gilroy 116.

3 Ohio College Teams Await Michigan Foes

DETROIT (AP) — Ohio invades Michigan for three football games this weekend, and teams from the Buckeye State are favored to capture three victories.

Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty told the state football writers Tuesday that his Spartans will need their best effort of the season to stay even with Ohio State Saturday at East Lansing.

Ohio University is heavily favored to tople Western Michigan, and Western Reserve is a touchdown choice over Wayne Statep.

Wilbur Snypp, the Ohio State publicist, told the football writers' association: "Michigan State is the only team with an edge over Woody Hayes in his 10 seasons as coach at Ohio State, and he's anxious to even the score."

The Spartans have won two of three games since Hayes took over, but this is the first time an Ohio State football team has visited the Michigan State campus.

Ohio University, Ohio State's "little brother" school some 75 miles to the south, invades Kalamazoo in a Mid-American Conference clash against Western Michigan. The Ohio U. one-two punch is Bob Brooks and Bob Harrison, and both are among the top ball carriers in the nation.

Western Reserve of Ohio has walloped three Presidents' Conference foes, but Wayne State of Michigan has a chance to throw the league race into a four-way tie for first place.

Tiny Tigers, Thomas Ewing Battle to 0-0 Grid Deadlock

The Circleville Junior High football team's trip to Lancaster Thomas Ewing yesterday ended in a 0-0 deadlock in a struggle which saw both teams fall short on scoring drives.

Most of the battle was fought between the two 30 yard lines.

Lancaster had the first scoring chance in the first half after recovering a Circleville fumble on the locals' 36. However, the Tiny Tigers dug in to hold their ground.

Circleville's first opportunity came in the second quarter when Don Fausnaugh intercepted a Ewing jump pass and rambled to the enemy 41. John Magill then completed a pass to Howard Dade to the enemy 25, but the drive stalled at this point.

* * *

A FIRED up Ewing crew drove to Circleville's 15 in the third quarter, but again the Little Tigers served notice they weren't giving away any real estate. In four more plays the hosts lost five yards back to the 20 as the locals put a stop to the threat.

With only minutes left in the fourth quarter, Ewing fashioned another break by intercepting a Circleville pass on Circleville's 39.

Tiger end John Thomas quickly halted this threat by stealing the ball from a Lancaster back and traveling to the enemy 46 before he was stopped.

Pressed by the clock, the Little Bengals rifled through the line and around end to Ewing's 23 as the final gun sounded.

The knotted verdict gives the Tiny Tigers a record of three wins and one tie with two games with Frankfort to go. Two weeks ago the locals cracked the Ewing outfit 18-6 in a hard-fought battle on the CHS field.

Coaches Paul Sarchet and Ralph Starkey said they were disappointed with their teams showing. They said tackling was off stride and that the offense did not click as it has in previous games.

* * *

EWING presented a formidable opponent in size and speed and especially in the running and defensive play of Fullback Eddie Effinger.

Next game for the Little Tigers is scheduled here Thursday with Frankfort. The kickoff is set for 6 p. m.

Callihan Cracks Pins for 614 Mark

Some sizzling scores were marked on the board in Early Monday Nite league bowling at Circle D Recreation this week.

Showing the way was Bob Callihan of General Electric with a 614 series on games of 237-180-197. Other bowlers going well over the 500 mark were Marion Good 577, Mike Brown 573, Bob Moon 572, Dallas Elliott 562, Don Flierl 557, Pete Noble and Don Valentine, 539, Bill Sibbick 552 and Gene Muering 534.

Callihan's 237 was high individual single game, but he was followed closely by Elliott's 233. On down the line it was Muering with a 228 Bill Eddy 225, Good 222, Sibbick 215, Don McDill 213, Moon 203, Valentine 202 and 200 and Brown and Jack Melvin 201.

Ruth Elliott High In Tuesday Loop

Ruth Elliott's 242 and 589, handicap included, were high single and series scores in Ladies' Tuesday Night bowling at Circle D.

Other high singles with handicap included Lydia DeLong's 214 and a 210 by Betty Boldoser, Zora Weiler finished with a 583 series and June McAfee a 580.

High team single games included a 982 by Brown's Insurance and a 967 by Gracille's Carousel of Beauty.

Ward's Market earned team high for three games with 2,652 pins. Gracille's was next on the list with 2,600.

Boosters Plan Grid Banquet

The Circleville Booster Club voted last night to hold a football banquet here instead of a proposed all-sports banquet.

The fete will be in the form of a carry - in. The date will be either November 19 or December 3. An effort will be made to obtain the CHS social rooms for the event.

Members agreed that directors and coaches will provide the meat dishes, with players' parents furnishing other food. The Booster club will arrange for bread, butter and refreshments.

A speaker for the banquet will be obtained by the coaching staff. A special highlight of the fete will be the awarding of a "Most Valuable Player" trophy and belt buckles for other individual accomplishments.

* * *

THE Booster Club also voted this week to furnish a commercial bus for the football team's trip to Springfield North Friday.

President Ralph Starkey announced that coffee and hot chocolate will be sold again at the next home game, scheduled November 4 with Franklin Heights.

AL Chiefs Expected To Tap Los Angeles for New Team

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Baseball League today was expected to stake its claimin Los Angeles at a meeting designed to expand the circuit to 10 clubs in time for the 1962 season.

Los Angeles, together with Dallas-Fort Worth and Minneapolis-St. Paul, are regarded as the only cities among a dozen applicants being considered seriously for the ninth and 10th franchises.

The National League nine days ago beat its junior rival to the gun by grabbing Houston and New York in the first expansion move in the majors in 62 years. The American League voted last month to expand to 10 teams, too.

While the NL had a comparatively easy time coming to unanimous agreement, the American was expected to be engaged in a long, drawn-out debate regarding Los Angeles. It was highly possible no decision would be reached at his meeting, which may be held over for a second day.

The AL clubowners first must solve internal problems concerning possible realignment before they can tackle the expansion movement. They are pretty much in agreement regarding Los Angeles.

The rub, however, is in the manner of acquisition. One group, headed by Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox, wants the league to grant an open franchise to LA, along with Dallas-Fort Worth.

Another faction, headed by Dan Topping of the New York Yankees, would like to see the Kansas City franchise moved to Los Angeles, thus opening the way for the league to approve franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas-Fort Worth.

Hank Greenberg, vice-president of the White Sox, reportedly has been supporting a move on the part of owner Calvin Griffith to shift his Washington Senators to Minneapolis-St. Paul. Greenberg is anxious to take over the Washington franchise.

It takes a three - fourths vote to approve a franchise shift or the granting of a new franchise.

Browns' Captain Expects Stiff Test

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mike McCormack, mainstay of the Cleveland Browns for seven seasons at offensive tackle and in his fourth year as captain, thinks Sunday's game in Washington will be the true test for this year's young team.

"Browns teams 'I've been on in the past bounced right back" after being down from loss of a tough game such as the 31-29 defeat here last Sunday by Philadelphia, McCormack said.

"We know we have eight games left to make up for that one," McCormack continued. "We can start against the Redskins."

The Browns will be favored by 10 points over Washington, and a victory would assure them of pulling even with the Philadelphia Eagles, who will be idle. The Eagles, now second in the Eastern Conference, and the New York Giants conference leaders and defending titlists, still have to bump into one another for two games.

Coach Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns weighed only 130 pounds when he played quarterback for Massilon, Ohio, High.

COLTS, YOUNG AND OLD—Two Baltimore Colts, Johnny Unitas of the pro champions, and Bruce O'Neil of the Colts A. C. (10-12-year-old midget team) go over brochure on the 10th annual observance of National Catholic Youth Week, October 30-November 6. At the same time, Johnny passed on some football know-how to the young Colt.

Rigney Tipped New Manager for Detroit

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Rigney, who was fired as manager of the San Francisco Giants last June, may be installed as pilot of the Detroit Tigers within a month.

The Associated Press learned Tuesday that Rigney, who led the Giants to two straight third place finishes before he was let go, applied for the vacant Detroit job during the World Series.

The Tigers have been without a manager since early this month when Joe Gordon resigned.

Navy Star Tagged As Back of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Bellino, Navy's dazzling halfback who set a modern scoring record for a Middie football player when he tallied two touchdowns against Pennsylvania, edged out New Mexico State halfback Bob Gaiters today as the Associated Press back of the week.

Gaiters and Bellino are the two leading major college scorers, the New Mexico star leading with 92 points on 15 touchdowns and two conversions.

Bellino led unbeaten Navy to its sixth straight victory, a 27-0 decision over Penn.

In scoring twice, one a 26-yard romp, the 187-pound Belino from Winchester, Mass., boosted his season TD total to 11. This, with a 2-point conversion, gives him 68 points, eight better than the 1934 Navy record of Buzz Borries.

Walter Blum, with 61 winners, took jockey honors during Monmouth Park's 1960 meeting of 50 days.

Views on Television - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—During the past two years, television has made many announcements of projected programs and series based on episodes of the War Between the States. But after the announcements all seemed to get mislaid or abandoned, possibly because the Civil War is a controversial subject. Thus, Tuesday evening's special, "John Brown's Raid," was of particular interest.

The drama, an original teleplay by Robert Crean, was an important program and a dramatic reconstruction of the assault on Harper's Ferry, W. Va., in October 1859, by the fanatic John Brown and his tattered band of followers.

A handful of men—black and white—seized the town and the arsenal before the Marines (literally) arrived to capture, kill and disperse the raiders and restore order. What made it an event of historical importance and of fascination to historians was its timing; it was one of the events which lit the fuse that exploded into war.

Producer Robert Alan Aurthur and Director Sidney Lumet lavished love and attention on the hour's show. They took their big case and cameras to Harper's Ferry and shot it at the original scene of the raid. James Mason played the Bible-quoting abolitionist to the hilt, portraying him as a man with an all - consuming half-mad determination to free the slaves, regardless of consequences to himself, his sons or to the young nation.

This was all to the good. Where the program fell down as drama was probably in its editing. The short sequences, jumping back and forth between the townspeople to Brown and his raiders, were extremely confusing. And the entire hour emphasized violence — there were closeups of men being clubbed, bayonetted, shot and there were long, long scenes of street fighting which added nothing to the whole.

In spite of the frequent fuzziness, the occasions when Mason was difficult to understand and overlong battle scenes, it was a gripping, and impressive program with flashes of fine writing and acting. And it succeeded in sidestepping the stodginess which seems to be the chronic affliction of the American Heritage series. Most remarkably, it also avoided reopening any old North - South wounds by its sympathetic portrayal of the slave-owning southerners and by handling Brown and his men as if they were a group apart from the North.

Negro Leader Ordered To Serve Term

ATLANTA (AP) —Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader has been ordered to serve four months on a suspended taffic sentence after his arrest in Atlanta sit-in demonstrations.

Judge Oscar Mitchell of DeKalb County Criminal Court in suburban Decatur denied a defense motion for bond.

D. L. Hollowell, heading a defense staff of five Negro lawyers, questioned the constitutionality of Georgia's new trespass law under which King and more than 70 others were arrested in the Atlanta lunch counter sit-ins last week.

King was given a $25 fine and a one-year suspended sentence Sept. 23 on a charge of driving without a license. He pleaded guilty then but he told the court today that he had no knowedge that he was under a probationary sentence until advised of it three days ago.

King was taken in handcuffs from the Fulton County jail in Atlanta for the hearing. The DeKalb courtroom was crowded with 100 or more Negroes and some 200 white persons.

The "Youngsters' Club" of Caliv, Germany, is one of the most exclusive in the world. Candidates have to be at least 90 years old to apply for membership. There are 13 members.

Views on Television - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—During the past two years, television has made many announcements of projected programs and series based on episodes of the War Between the States. But after the announcements all seemed to get mislaid or abandoned, possibly because the Civil War is a controversial subject. Thus, Tuesday evening's special, "John Brown's Raid," was of particular interest.

The drama, an original teleplay by Robert Crean, was an important program and a dramatic reconstruction of the assault on Harper's Ferry, W. Va., in October 1859, by the fanatic John Brown and his tattered band of followers.

A handful of men—black and white—seized the town and the arsenal before the Marines (literally) arrived to capture, kill and disperse the raiders and restore order. What made it an event of historical importance and of fascination to historians was its timing; it was one of the events which lit the fuse that exploded into war.

Producer Robert Alan Aurthur and Director Sidney Lumet lavished love and attention on the hour's show. They took their big case and cameras to Harper's Ferry and shot it at the original scene of the raid. James Mason played the Bible-quoting abolitionist to the hilt, portraying him as a man with an all - consuming half-mad determination to free the slaves, regardless of consequences to himself, his sons or to the young nation.

This was all to the good. Where the program fell down as drama was probably in its editing. The short sequences, jumping back and forth between the townspeople to Brown and his raiders, were extremely confusing. And the entire hour emphasized violence — there were closeups of men being clubbed, bayonetted, shot and there were long, long scenes of street fighting which added nothing to the whole.

In spite of the frequent fuzziness, the occasions when Mason was difficult to understand and overlong battle scenes, it was a gripping, and impressive program with flashes of fine writing and acting. And it succeeded in sidestepping the stodginess which seems to be the chronic affliction of the American Heritage series. Most remarkably, it also avoided reopening any old North - South wounds by its sympathetic portrayal of the slave-owning southerners and by handling Brown and his men as if they were a group apart from the North.

Negro Leader Ordered To Serve Term

ATLANTA (AP) —Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader has been ordered to serve four months on a suspended traffic sentence after his arrest in Atlanta sit-in demonstrations.

Judge Oscar Mitchell of DeKalb County Criminal Court in suburban Decatur denied a defense motion for bond.

D. L. Hollowell, heading a defense staff of five Negro lawyers, questioned the constitutionality of Georgia's new trespass law under which King and more than 70 others were arrested in the Atlanta lunch counter sit-ins last week.

King was given a $25 fine and a one-year suspended sentence Sept. 23 on a charge of driving without a license. He pleaded guilty then but he told the court today that he had no knowedge that he was under a probationary sentence until advised of it three days ago.

King was taken in handcuffs from the Fulton County jail in Atlanta for the hearing. The DeKalb courtroom was crowded with 100 or more Negroes and some 200 white persons.

The "Youngsters' Club" of Caliv, Germany, is one of the most exclusive in the world. Candidates have to be at least 90 years old to apply for membership. There are 13 members.

Chillicothe Recalls Nixon Clan History

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — When Vice President Nixon's B&O campaign train pulled into Chillicothe Tuesday, a bit of history associated with the Nixon family was recalled.

The train halted alongside the buildings of the Union Coal Co.

That firm was founded by Richard Enderlin, a German immigrant drummer boy in the Civil War. Enderlin received the Congessional Medal of Honor for braving the bullets of the Gettysburg battlefield to drag a badly wounded union soldier to safety.

The wounded soldier—who died later of his wounds—was George Nixon of Vinton County, Nixon's grandfather.

Anti-Dog Yapping Ordinance Upheld

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A common pleas judge lifted a restraining order Tuesday and upheld a Columbus city ordinance that prohibits dog yapping.

Judge Dana F. Reynolds said a veterinarian, who had challenged the ordinance, had no cause of action and, in effect, said the ordinance was a dog-gone good law.

Dr. Ralph J. Becher, who operates an animal hospital, said enforcement of the ordinance — passed July 25—would deprive him of his means of livelihood and prevent his operation of the hospital.

The ordinance contends that "no person shall keep or harbor any animal or fowl . . . which howls or barks or emits audible sounds to the annoyance of the city inhabitants."

Yellowbud Is Honored By Army Band Member

When the U. S. Army Field Band made its first appearance at the Pumpkin Show in 1956, Glen Rittinger, member of the Yellowbud Community Band, became a friend of Everett Short, solo trumpeter, Laurel, Md.

This year Mr. Short appeared with the Yellowbud Band in the Thursday night parade and at the Baton Twirling Contest finals.

Rio Grande Residents Returning after Flood

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP) — Families began returning to their soggy homes in this Mexican-U.S. border town today after a flash flood Monday caused by overflowing Los Olmos Creek after 15 inches of rain on the watershed.

During the height of the flood, homes in about a third of the town of 8,000 had water in them, some as much as eight feet.

Guesspert Says Iowa To Win, Bucks To Lose

Ole Miss, Navy Get Nod for Victories On Saturday's Card

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Massachusetts has ruled Pic-Six illegal in horse race betting. Any college football coach will tell you he must have the horses to win. So, just horsing around, we're trying to avoid picking six losers.

This week's picks:

Iowa over Kansas: The Big Ten teams that wasn't supposed to go anywhere meets the Big Eight club that was to have taken everything. Despite John Hadl, the Hawkeyes will win in a thriller.

Mississippi over Louisiana State: There was a time when LSU had the Chinese Bandits, but this year the Rebels have that famed non-Oriental, Jake Gibbs.

Syracuse over Pittsburgh: Twice beaten, twice - tied Pittsburgh could take this, but Ernie Davis and his mates will pull it out.

Navy over Notre Dame: Joe Bellino gets better as the season progresses.

Missouri over Nebraska: The Tigers are one of the most underrated teams in the Midlands.

Minnesota over Kansas State: A breeze for the Paul Bunyans of the football North.

Baylor over Texas Christian: Ronnie Bull will batter his way into the headlines for the Southwest Conference leaders.

Michigan State over Ohio State: The Buckeyes are No. 8 on the national list, the Spartans No. 10, but the pick is Michigan State despite Carl Charon's twisted knee.

Purdue over Illinois: A rough day ahead for John Easterbrook, the Illini's Tom Thumb quarterback.

Duke over Georgia Tech: A toughie but the home field gives Duke the edge.

Others: Army over Miami of Ohio, Cincinnati over Xavier, Oklahoma over Colorado, Northwestern over Indiana, Oklahoma State over Iowa State, Wichita over Dayton, Wisconsin over Michigan.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Rain was approaching Ohio from the west early this morning, and Toledo received a shower about 3 a.m. Skies clouded over, especially in the central and western counties, during the night. Rising temperatures resulted.

Freezing temperatures were reported over the eastern half of the state, however, with some early morning readings as low as 26 reported in Zanesville. Akron dropped to 31 and Marietta 29.

Showers and possible thunderstorms will move eastward across the state today, ending tonight as a weak cold front shifts winds to northwesterly.

The Thursday outlook is for mostly fair, except for cloudy in the northeast portion.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average near normal. Normal high 58-62, low 39-41. Little daily change in temperature. Precipitation will average .1 to .2 inch in showers tonight and again about Saturday.

Poker Faces Alert California Policeman

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP)—Motorcycle officer Robert Vance is suspicious of people with poker faces.

"I stopped them for a defective red light, and when I joked with them they didn't seem to think I was funny," he said of a recent arrest of two motorists.

The two turned out to be wanted on burglary charges.

Chillicothe Recalls Nixon Clan History

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — When Vice President Nixon's B&O campaign train pulled into Chillicothe Tuesday, a bit of history associated with the Nixon family was recalled.

The train halted alongside the buildings of the Union Coal Co.

That firm was founded by Richard Enderlin, a German immigrant drummer boy in the Civil War. Enderlin received the Congessional Medal of Honor for braving the bullets of the Gettysburg battlefield to drag a badly wounded union soldier to safety.

The wounded soldier—who died later of his wounds—was George Nixon of Vinton County, Nixon's grandfather.

Anti-Dog Yapping Ordinance Upheld

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A common pleas judge lifted a restraining order Tuesday and upheld a Columbus city ordinance that prohibits dog yapping.

Judge Dana F. Reynolds said a veterinarian, who had challenged the ordinance, had no cause of action and, in effect, said the ordinance was a dog-gone good law.

Dr. Ralph J. Becher, who operates an animal hospital, said enforcement of the ordinance — passed July 25—would deprive him of his means of livelihood and prevent his operation of the hospital.

The ordinance contends that "no person shall keep or harbor any animal or fowl . . . which howls or barks or emits audible sounds to the annoyance of the city inhabitants."

Yellowbud Is Honored By Army Band Member

When the U. S. Army Field Band made its first appearance at the Pumpkin Show in 1956, Glen Rittinger, member of the Yellowbud Community Band, became a friend of Everett Short, solo trumpeter, Laurel, Md.

This year Mr. Short appeared with the Yellowbud Band in the Thursday night parade and at the Baton Twirling Contest finals.

Rio Grande Residents Returning after Flood

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP) — Families began returning to their soggy homes in this Mexican-U.S. border town today after a flash flood Monday caused by overflowing Los Olmos Creek after 15 inches of rain on the watershed.

During the height of the flood, homes in about a third of the town of 8,000 had water in them, some as much as eight feet.

Guesspert Says Iowa To Win, Bucks To Lose

Ole Miss, Navy Get Nod for Victories On Saturday's Card

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Massachusetts has ruled Pic-Six illegal in horse race betting. Any college football coach will tell you he must have the horses to win. So, just horsing around, we're trying to avoid picking six losers.

This week's picks:

Iowa over Kansas: The Big Ten teams that wasn't supposed to go anywhere meets the Big Eight club that was to have taken everything. Despite John Hadl, the Hawkeyes will win in a thriller.

Mississippi over Louisiana State: There was a time when LSU had the Chinese Bandits, but this year the Rebels have that famed non-Oriental, Jake Gibbs.

Syracuse over Pittsburgh: Twice beaten, twice - tied Pittsburgh could take this, but Ernie Davis and his mates will pull it out.

Navy over Notre Dame: Joe Bellino gets better as the season progresses.

Missouri over Nebraska: The Tigers are one of the most underrated teams in the Midlands.

Minnesota over Kansas State: A breeze for the Paul Bunyans of the football North.

Baylor over Texas Christian: Ronnie Bull will batter his way into the headlines for the Southwest Conference leaders.

Michigan State over Ohio State: The Buckeyes are No. 8 on the national list, the Spartans No. 10, but the pick is Michigan State despite Carl Charon's twisted knee.

Purdue over Illinois: A rough day ahead for John Easterbrook, the Illini's Tom Thumb quarterback.

Duke over Georgia Tech: A toughie but the home field gives Duke the edge.

Others: Army over Miami of Ohio, Cincinnati over Xavier, Oklahoma over Colorado, Northwestern over Indiana, Oklahoma State over Iowa State, Wichita over Dayton, Wisconsin over Michigan.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Rain was approaching Ohio from the west early this morning, and Toledo received a shower about 3 a.m. Skies clouded over, especially in the central and western counties, during the night. Rising temperatures resulted.

Freezing temperatures were reported over the eastern half of the state, however, with some early morning readings as low as 26 reported in Zanesville. Akron dropped to 31 and Marietta 29.

Showers and possible thunderstorms will move eastward across the state today, ending tonight as a weak cold front shifts winds to northwesterly.

The Thursday outlook is for mostly fair, except for cloudy in the northeast portion.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average near normal. Normal high 58-62, low 39-41. Little daily change in temperature. Precipitation will average .1 to .2 inch in showers tonight and again about Saturday.

Democrat Club Holds Meeting

Rally-Barbecue Set for November 5

The Pickaway County Democrat Women's Club met at the Democrat Headquarters last night to make final plans for the forthcoming Rally and Barbecue.

Mrs. Eleanor A. Stocklen led the group in the Allegiance to the flag. Mrs. Martha Purcell, president, presided over the business portion of the meeting.

The Rally and Barbecue will begin 5:30 p. m., November 5, with a parade which will form at the Circleville High School. The parade will move to the Fairgrounds coliseum, where free food and soft drinks will be served at approximately 6:30 p. m.

The program will consist of two-minute speeches from local and state candidates for the coming election; a special guest speaker, to be announced later, will highlight the rally's pep talks; and entertainment will also be provided.

The parade and rally is open to the public and everyone is urged to participate.

County Delegates To OSBA Meeting

E. G. Grigg, 905 Atwater St., and Dr. Wells M. Wilson, Route 1, Circleville, will represent Pickaway County as official delegates to the annual business meeting of Ohio School Boards Assn., November 11, in Columbus.

The 2½-day conference features 200 booth exhibits of school supplies and equipment, the largest trade show of its kind in the Midwest.

Over 200 manufacturers and distributors will display their products ranging from teaching machines to chalk. The Architects Society of Ohio will stage an exhibit of scale models and drawings of new school plants in connection with the Trade Show.

Business Briefs

Anderson's Candy Shop, 126 S. Court St., has been selected as an outlet for Fanny Farmer candy in the Circleville area, according to Leonard D. Griffiths, president of Fanny Farmer Candy Shops, Inc., Rochester, N. Y.

Free samples of Fanny Farmer candy and Kiddy pops will be given to store visitors on Friday, announced Harold Anderson, owner of the local store.

The city of Cleveland was founded in 1796 by General Moses Cleveland, head surveyor for the Connecticut Land Co. Land in northern Ohio then cost 40 cents an acre; now an acre in downtown Cleveland is worth more than $2 million.

Plans in Making for Second City Schools Science Fair

The science and mathematics teachers and administrators of Circleville schools have agreed to promote a second local Science Fair.

The Fair will be held in March. The Circleville Kiwanis Club again will sponsor the event.

Organization and committees for the Fair are: Superintendent George Hartman, administrative adviser; Mrs. Betty Rickey and Richard Beadle, co-chairmen; and John Minch, secretary - treasurer.

On the rules and planning committee are: rules and planning — George Hartman, J. L. Chilcote, J. Wray Henry, E. R. Bennett, Richard Beadle, Mrs. Betty Rickey, Mrs. Louise Story, Mrs. Merle Penn and Mrs. Hazel Steele.

JUDGING and awards —George Mallet, chairman, E. R. Bennett, Mrs. Sophia Smith and Mrs. Robert Ransom.

Physical layout — Ted Thomas, chairman, Ray Gorman, Carl Benhase and John Adler. Publicity — Mrs. Mary Lamb.

Exhibit chairmen are: Lewis Meade, elementary; James Lint, 7th and 8th grades; Kester McCain, high school.

The Science Fair will be open to all students in the Circleville City Schools from grades one to twelve. It will be affiliated with the Junior Academy of Science.

Dates for the Fair are Mar. 9-10, 1961. Judging will be conducted March 9 and on March 10 the public will be invited to see the displays. This will be followed by the presentation of awards.

The planning and rules committees recently met to formulate plans and to consider rule revisions to make this fair even more interesting and successful than the first.

Officials said rules and regulations will be published as soon as they are completed.

Soviet Rocket Boss Killed in Air Accident

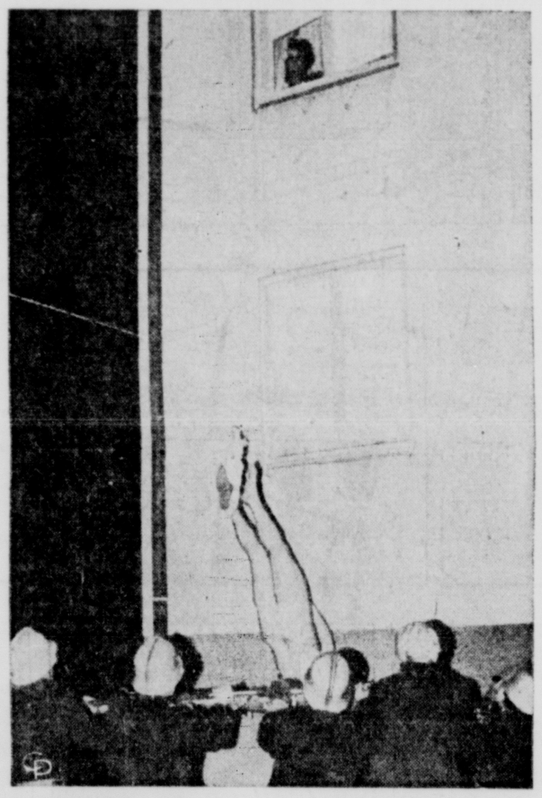

MOSCOW (AP) — Much - decorated Marshal Mitrofan I. Nedelin, 57, commander of Soviet rocket forces, has been killed in an aviation accident.

The announcement of the death of the veteran artilleryman gave no details except that he died Monday in the course of his duties.

His successor as commander of the strategic rocket force and as a deputy defense minister is Marshal Kirill S. Moskalenko, 60, commander of the Moscow Military District.

Nedelin's appointment as head of the rocket forces was announced last May 7 by Premier Khrushchev. That was the day Khrushchev said U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers had confessed being on an American spying mission when his plane was shot down a week previous by a rocket crew near Sverdlovsk.

Subsequently Khrushchev said he had given Nedelin direct authority to retaliate for any future spy flights by firing nuclear-armed rockets at the base from which the intruder came.

German Gls Due in France

Special Training Agreement Revealed

PARIS (AP)—The spearhead of another German army will arrive in France next week, this time as an ally.

A spokesman for the French Defense Ministry said that units of the West German army will take up training positions in Eastern France on Nov. 3 for an initial period of three weeks. A total of about 2,400 men will be in the units.

The Germans are coming under an agreement the governments of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle signed Tuesday night.

The French are to make training and storage facilities available. The bases will remain under French control.

The arrival of the Germans so soon after signing of the agreement means the two governments are hurrying to put the agreement into effect before opposition can crystallize.

The newspaper "Figaro" reported that as a gesture to French sensitivity, the initial German contingents will wear khaki uniforms similar to those worn by French, British and American soldiers and not the field gray Frenchmen associate with their Nazi occupiers.

The Defense Ministry said the Germans will train at Sissonne, near Laon, in the Aisne Department; and at Mourmelon, near Chalons-sur-Marne, in the Marne Department. Both areas saw bitter fighting in World War I. Sissonne also figured in the campaign of 1940.

The Defense Ministry made no announcement of further numbers to be trained but there was speculation that about 35,000 Germans a year might use the French bases.

John Roosevelt Sees Nixon Winning in Ohio

BELLE VERNON, Pa. (AP)—The Republican presidential ticket will win the Nov. 8 election by carrying seven "key" states, including Ohio, says John Roosevelt, son of the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Speaking to a Republican Party fund raising dinner Tuesday night Roosevelt said Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge would carry Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, Texas, Michigan and California.

Pickaway Grange

Nebraska Grange met October 17 with the new officers in charge. Worthy Master James Moody presided during the business meeting, when the Grange voted to enter the Community Service Contest sponsored by the Sears Roebuck Foundation.

The charter was draped in memory of Louis J. Taber, former Master of the National Grange and at one time Master and lecturer of the State Grange.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Lemley were voted in as new members, having demits from Eno Grange in Gallia Co. Don Collins was reported ill in Berger Hospital and will appreciate cards.

Several members will be attending State Grange in Columbus next week. Gerald Owens and Bonnie Beers will represent Pickaway County as the Prince and Princess, and will take part in the pageant on Monday night. The Meta Larks, winners in the State Grange Quartet contest, will sing at the banquet on Tuesday night at the Seshler - Hilton.

They are, Mrs. David Dill, Mrs. Chester Peters, Mrs. Neil Barr and Mrs. Boyd Fosnaugh. Thelma Hines and Mrs. Russell Hedges will be helping at the Convention, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Plum will be visitors during the entire session.

* * *

MRS NEIL Reid, lecturer, used "Halloween" as the theme for her program. Lynn Noecker and Jackie Lindsey told legends and the origin of Halloween. Mrs Russell Hedges read a Halloween poem. Contests and games were enjoyed by all. Doughnuts and cider were served by the October committee.

There will be no meeting on November 1, due to the Sesquicentennial pageant that night at the Fairgrounds. Anyone wishing to help or take part in the pageant please contact Mrs. Harvey Roby, Ashville.

The next Grange meeting will be on November 15, and the 1st and 2nd degrees will be conferred. The new time for meeting is 7:30 p. m.

Ohio Woman, 57, Dies On Hike in Mountains

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—An Ohio woman, Mrs. Ethel LaJule Bunde, 57, of Swanton, suffered a fatal heart attack while hiking on a Great Smoky Mountains National Park trail, officials said Tuesday. She was stricken Monday on the trail to Clingman's Dome, at 6,642 feet the highest point in the Smokies.

Steel Business To Sag More In November

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel business in November will be down from October and there is not likely to be any improvement in December, Iron Age Magazine said today.

"This means any recovery in steel operations is now set back into 1961," the metalworking weekly said.

However, the magazine made an important qualification to its gloomy summary:

"Orders, even from major users like the automakers, are on a week-to-week, even day-to-day, basis. This makes long range predicting difficult because any steel user can change his pans, and orders, over night.

"A surge of late orders during the month could bring November improvement. But, at best, November cannot be called a recovery month."

Iron Age said, "The disappointing November outlook is principally the result of the automotive production and sales outlook . . .

"In addition, layoffs are scheduled, or are already being made, in some of the other major steel-consuming industries. These include appliance, farm equipment and heavy construction equipment makers."

Double Funeral Rites Are Held for Couple

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Double funeral services were held today for Dr. and Mrs. Everett Clouse. Soviet Rocket Boss Killed in Air Accident

MOSCOW (AP) — Much-decorated Marshal Mitrofan I. Nedelin, 57, commander of Soviet rocket forces, has been killed in an aviation accident.

The announcement of the death of the veteran artilleryman gave no details except that he died Monday in the course of his duties.

His successor as commander of the strategic rocket force and as a deputy defense minister is Marshal Kirill S. Moskalenko, 60, commander of the Moscow Military District.

Nedelin's appointment as head of the rocket forces was announced last May 7 by Premier Khrushchev. That was the day Khrushchev said U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers had confessed being on an American spying mission when his plane was shot down a week previous by a rocket crew near Sverdlovsk.

Subsequently Khrushchev said he had given Nedelin direct authority to retaliate for any future spy flights by firing nuclear-armed rockets at the base from which the intruder came.

WELL, I SWAN!—Firemen catch a crazed man in a leap from a fourth floor apartment building in Stockholm, Sweden. The man drove his mother and others from the building with a knife, then locked himself in the apartment. Police fired tear gas through the windows, and out he came, like this, without a stitch on except for that foot.

German Gls Due in France

Special Training Agreement Revealed

PARIS (AP)—The spearhead of another German army will arrive in France next week, this time as an ally.

A spokesman for the French Defense Ministry said that units of the West German army will take up training positions in Eastern France on Nov. 3 for an initial period of three weeks. A total of about 2,400 men will be in the units.

The Germans are coming under an agreement the governments of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle signed Tuesday night.

The French are to make training and storage facilities available. The bases will remain under French control.

The arrival of the Germans so soon after signing of the agreement means the two governments are hurrying to put the agreement into effect before opposition can crystallize.

The newspaper "Figaro" reported that as a gesture to French sensitivity, the initial German contingents will wear khaki uniforms similar to those worn by French, British and American soldiers and not the field gray Frenchmen as sociate with their Nazi occupiers.

The Defense Ministry said the Germans will train at Sissonne, near Laon, in the Aisne Department; and at Mourmelon, near Chalons-sur-Marne, in the Marne Department. Both areas saw bitter fighting in World War I. Sissonne also figured in the campaign of 1940.

The Defense Ministry made no announcement of further numbers to be trained but there was speculation that about 35,000 Germans a year might use the French bases.

John Roosevelt Sees Nixon Winning in Ohio

BELLE VERNON, Pa. (AP)—The Republican presidential ticket will win the Nov. 8 election by carrying seven "key" states, including Ohio, says John Roosevelt, son of the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Speaking to a Republican Party fund raising dinner Tuesday night Roosevelt said Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge would carry Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, Texas, Michigan and California.

Pickaway Grange

Nebraska Grange met October 17 with the new officers in charge. Worthy Master James Moody presided during the business meeting, when the Grange voted to enter the Community Service Contest sponsored by the Sears Roebuck Foundation.

The charter was draped in memory of Louis J. Taber, former Master of the National Grange and at one time Master and lecturer of the State Grange.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Lemley were voted in as new members, having demits from Eno Grange in Gallia Co. Don Collins was reported ill in Berger Hospital and will appreciate cards.

Several members will be attending State Grange in Columbus next week. Gerald Owens and Bonnie Beers will represent Pickaway County as the Prince and Princess, and will take part in the pageant on Monday night. The Meta Larks, winners in the State Grange Quartet contest, will sing at the banquet on Tuesday night at the Seshler - Hilton.

They are, Mrs. David Dill, Mrs. Chester Peters, Mrs. Neil Barr and Mrs. Boyd Fosnaugh. Thelma Hines and Mrs. Russell Hedges will be helping at the Convention, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Plum will be visitors during the entire session.

MRS NEIL Reid, lecturer, used "Halloween" as the theme for her program. Lynn Noecker and Jackie Lindsey told legends and the origin of Halloween. Mrs Russell Hedges read a Halloween poem. Contests and games were enjoyed by all. Doughnuts and cider were served by the October committee.

There will be no meeting on November 1, due to the Sesquicentennial pageant that night at the Fairgrounds. Anyone wishing to help or take part in the pageant please contact Mrs. Harvey Roby, Ashville.

The next Grange meeting will be on November 15, and the 1st and 2nd degrees will be conferred. The new time for meeting is 7:30 p. m.

Ohio Woman, 57, Dies On Hike in Mountains

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—An Ohio woman, Mrs. Ethel LaJule Bunde, 57, of Swanton, suffered a fatal heart attack while hiking on a Great Smoky Mountains National Park trail, officials said Tuesday. She was stricken Monday on the trail to Clingman's Dome, at 6,642 feet the highest point in the Smokies.

Steel Business To Sag More In November

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel business in November will be down from October and there is not likely to be any improvement in December, Iron Age Magazine said today.

"This means any recovery in steel operations is now set back into 1961," the metalworking weekly said.

However, the magazine made an important qualification to its gloomy summary:

"Orders, even from major users like the automakers, are on a week-to-week, even day-to-day, basis. This makes long range predicting difficult because any steel user can change his pans, and orders, over night.

"A surge of late orders during the month could bring November improvement. But, at best, November cannot be called a recovery month."

Iron Age said, "The disappointing November outlook is principally the result of the automotive production and sales outlook . . .

"In addition, layoffs are scheduled, or are already being made, in some of the other major steel-consuming industries. These include appliance, farm equipment and heavy construction equipment makers."

Double Funeral Rites Are Held for Couple

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Double funeral services were held today for Dr. and Mrs. Everett Clouse. Mrs. Edna Fay Clouse, 76, took her own life Monday night in the funeral home where her husband lay in state. Dr. Clouse, retired superintendent of Apple Creek State Hospital and former acting superintendent of Columbus State Hospital, died Sunday in Baltimore, Md.
